19 Perish In Flaming Plane Crash

Midland Area Road Slips

A road slippage on the Murphy Hill Rd. north of Midland continued today, despite efforts of Pennsylvania Highway Department workers, and this morning the one part of the roadway had sunk over two feet.

One - way traffic has been in effect at the site a half mile north of Virginia Ave. for several days.

J. A. Miller, area superintendent of highways, said the soil has been sliding downhill because of recent rains which weakenedd the subsoil.

Miller said state crews first worked at the site Monday after the problem was reported Sunday.

Tuesday afternoon the road surface began to sink again and the left lane was barricaded.

Miller said crews could not do much work during the rainy weather because the situation would only be worsened.

He explained the slippage takes place when water flows along the layers of shale under the roadway.

Careens Into Luxury Motel, Killing 9 School Children In New Orleans Disaster

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A Delta Air Lines DC8 jet on a training flight careened into a luxury motel opposite New Orleans International Airport early today and exploded. Nine high school girls from Juda, Wis., were among the 19 persons killed in the flaming crash.

The girls were on a senior class outing, part of a group of 32 from Juda High School who had been in New Orleans since Monday and were scheduled to leave today. Eight of the dead girls were found huddled together in a charred bathroom of the motel. The body of the ninth was blown outside.

Five pilots and a federal inspector were on board the big jet, which was coming in for a landing. It sliced through two houses before plunging into the Hilton Inn, across U.S. 61 from the airport. All six in the plane were killed.

The motel erupted into fierce flames. As many as 40 guest units were destroyed or damaged. The number of injured was not known.

The cartwheeling jet spilled fuel as it skidded down a railroad track behind the motel, blistering the area. It blew apart when it hit the motel, scattering wreckage for a hundred yards. The nose of the craft remained buried in the building.

The surviving students, many hysterical or in a daze, were placed under sedation by doctors. Some wore bermuda shorts, others were dressed in blankets. Tour leaders were busy informing relatives in Juda, a village of 300 persons in Wisconsin's dairy country of the tragedy.

Police Capt. Marvin Leonard said the plane "spewed a sea of fuel right to those rooms where those eight kids were staying. That's what killed them. Not the impact from the wreckage.

"There were eight girls in four rooms. You could see where they took refuge in the shower stalls. One girl even took her purse with her.

"They turned on the water, but it didn't do them any good."

Most guests fled the fiery scene in panic, many in their nightclothes. Some charred rooms were inaccessible for hours because of the heat.

"We saw a real bright light," said Doug Baer, 16, of Park

$1.5 Million Set Aside

County Included In Gov. Rhodes' Vocational Plan

By WILLIAM V. MERRIMAN
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A master plan for vocational education sent to the Ohio General Assembly Wednesday by Gov. James A. Rhodes sets aside $1.5 million for Columbiana County.

To obtain the state funds, school districts in the county first would have to form a joint vocational school district and then gain voter approval of a tax levy or bond issue to raise local monies.

ONLY 28 joint districts have been formed in the state with 16 yet unfunded locally.

The blueprint which went to the legislature, drawn up by the State Board of Education, calls for a massive $234 million outlay to build vocational facilities. It makes no mention of operating costs, however.

Of the projected price tag, the federal government would contribute $37 million, local vocational districts $117 million and the state $80 million.

Rhodes pointedly noted the state's share could be made available through bonds issued by the proposed Ohio Bond Commission which the legislature has submitted to voters at a special May 2 election.

EARLIER this week the governor presented a $455 million development plan for higher education in Ohio to the legislature. He laid stress on the bond commission in that message, too, stating the OBC is the "fair and sensible way to pay for capital improvements."

Two years ago the legislature enacted a law requiring all school districts in the state to provide by July 1, 1967, "adequate," state - approved vocational education programs.

Because only 12 joint districts have succeeded in gaining local financial support, a bill now is before the legislature to set the deadline back to July 1969.

A VOCATIONAL education survey of Columbiana County schools published by the State Board of Education in October 1964 indicated a need for vocational training courses.

Vocational planning questionnaires filled out by 10th and 11th graders in the 11 public high schools indicated 77.5 per cent desired some vocational training. Only 14.5 per cent indicated college plans, with no desire for vocational training.

The survey said the schools have large enough enrollments and a total property valuation sufficient to provide a broad vocational program through a com-

Meeting Scheduled In Washington

Radio, TV Strike Accord Unlikely Before Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — "Good night, David. Good night, Chet," is a casualty of the television-radio strike as Huntley talked but Brinkley didn't.

The familiar coast to coast television signoff was conspicuously absent Wednesday night as Chet Huntley, defying a strike by the 18,000-member American Federation of Television and Radio Artists, went it alone on his evening news report for the National Broadcasting Co.

David Brinkley, the other half of the NBC news team, stayed away from his microphone in Washington. He refused to cross a picket line.

There appeared to be little likelihood of a settlement before Saturday when union officials and executives of NBC, CBS, ABC and the Mutual Broadcasting System meet in Washington at the offices of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

The strike over wages and commercial fees, the first national one in AFTRA's 30-year history, was called at 5 a.m. Wednesday in behalf of about 100 local on-the-air newscasters whose minimums currently exceed $11,000 a year. Most network stars, some of whose salaries range upward from the $100,000 level, supported the strike, as members of AFTRA even though they had reached an agreement last January.

Frank McGee, another NBC television and radio newsman well-known for his description of U.S. space shots, also defied the picket lines and broadcast his regular 4 p.m. radio newscast Wednesday.

But missing from the TV screens were other well-known newscasters such as Walter Cronkite of the Columbia Broadcasting System and Peter Jennings of the American Broadcasting Co.

Cronkite was replaced by Arnold Zenker, CBS program administration manager. Jennings was replaced by Daryl Griffin, an ABC producer in the special events unit.

NBC newscaster Bill Ryan used his picket sign for support to sign autographs outside the RCA building in Rockefeller Plaza where he marched with strikers.

With executives and supervisors filling in for television personalities, the strike did not appear to have significantly affected programs on the first day Wednesday.

Huntley apparently changed his mind about going on the air.

Earlier in the day, NBC had said that the Huntley-Brinkley show would not go on. The news report is divided between Huntley in New York and Brinkley in Washington. They have been a team for more than 10 years.

The striking union said Huntley was liable to suspension or possibly expulsion.

274 Americans, 2,774 Reds Killed

U.S., Enemy War Deaths Hit New High Last Week

SAIGON (AP) — More American and Communist troops were killed last week than ever before in the Vietnam war, U.S. military headquarters announced today.

The United States lost 274 dead and the Communists 2,774, the American command said.

While the Communist death toll set a record for the second straight week, the U.S. total exceeded a record of 240 that had stood since the battle of the Ia Drang Valley in November 1965.

Although the ground war has been relatively quiet for the past few days, the casualty summary for last week emphasized the growing intensity of the struggle in Vietnam. Many of the casualties were suffered in one of the war's deadliest one-day battles, on March 21, in which a crack Viet Cong regiment lost more than 600 dead in the jungles of Tay Ninh Province.

The deadly pace of the war continued Wednesday with 50 Viet Cong reported killed by South Korean soldiers sweeping the central coast and scattered actions dotting the countryside.

U.S. pilots smashed at targets in North Vietnam with 108 missions, including strikes on a storage complex 27 miles northeast of Hanoi. In the south, rockets from a U.S. Army helicopter on a firing mission fell short, killed three civilians, wounded 20 others and destroyed 31 huts in a government-controlled village 35 miles southeast of Quang Ngai.

The weekly casualty summary reported 1,320 Americans were wounded last week, the third highest total of the war, and 12 were missing.

The casualty figures also reflect the increasing use by the Communists of mortars, rockets and recoilless rifles — relatively long-range weapons which they now generally favor in an attempt to escape the massive and growing U.S. firepower. U.S. officers say the Communists have apparently decided to wage a war of attrition for the time being.

Despite record losses for two weeks, the U.S. estimate of total Communist troop strength increased by 1,000 men last week and 4,000 the week before, to a total of 287,000. This indicated continued heavy infiltration from North Vietnam despite the U.S. bombing and successful local recruiting of guerrillas.

American troop strength dropped for the first time in the war, being reported at 425,000.

This was 2,000 less than the total force reported the week before, but the U.S. command said it was the result of an "administrative shuffle" and had no significance.

'Cooperative Undertaking'

St. Clair Trustees Study County Plan In Road Slip

St. Clair Township trustees are studying Columbiana County's offer of assistance in correcting the slip on the Grimms Bridge Rd.

County commissioners and County Engineer John Ursu discussed the problem Wednesday afternoon and tentatively agreed on a cooperative undertaking.

James W. Boyd of East Liverpool, president of the commissioners, last night informed the trustees of the proposal and said they seemed receptive and told him they probably will take formal action to accept before their regular meeting Monday.

Ursu said the county will bear the cost of an engineering plan and part of the cost of repair providing the trustees adopt a resolution to pay a flat amount or a percentage of the repair. Commissioner R. Max Gard suggested one - half of repair costs as the trustees' share.

No estimate of the cost will be available until an engineering plan is prepared. Ursu termed such a plan essential.

Wednesday's discussion brought out that the hillside slip occurred last year in an area near two abandoned coal mines. The hillside began slipping over two weeks ago and has blocked one lane. The location is a short distance west, or upgrade, from the bridge. Boyd said the trustees have spent $1,200 in an unsuccessful effort to stop the slide.

Mrs. Roy Young, whose house is downhill from the slide, and six other area residents presented a 96-signature petition to the commissioners Monday.

They asked the commissioners and the engineer to give the trustees all the aid needed to correct the condition and restore two - way traffic.

St. Clair trustees have a $72,000 budget, but no road levy. They maintain 68 miles of roads.

Pupils Given Holiday After School Blaze

Classes at Pleasant Heights School, suspended by a minor fire Wednesday night, will resume Friday, school officials said today.

A motor operating the blower on a coal furnace caught fire and filled the building with smoke. The fire was discovered at 7:44 p. m. by some boys who were playing basketball on the school grounds.

The youths ran to the Pleasant Heights station to report that the building was filled with smoke.

Firemen said the motor was mounted on wooden 4-x-4-inch blocks, which ignited. The entire building was filled with a heavy smoke and school was called off today to allow the building to be aired out.

An insurance adjuster was checking the damage, which was termed minor by officials.

Three trucks and the chief's car responded to the alarm. Firemen remained at the school until 8:27 p. m.

Dispute Over Pay Raise

Schools At Steubenville Closed, Teachers 'Sick'

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) —Steubenville school Supt. C. M. Patterson suspended classes for 5,200 public school pupils today by ordering the city's nine schools closed because of teacher absenteeism.

There were 96 teachers absent by the end of the day Wednesday out of a total number of 232 classroom teachers, Patterson said.

He said his reason for closing the schools was "lack of adequate supervision."

Teachers called in sick Wednesday and school officials blamed the absenteeism on a dispute between the school board and the Steubenville Education Association over pay raises.

Pay raises were agreed to, but the association demands that they be effective April 1. The school board wants them effective next Sept. 1.

Patterson said the problem with getting the money concerns the board's inability to get one mill of an 11-mill levy passed last November. Patterson said the school board has 10 mills of the levy, but without the other mill the raises cannot be made effective sooner than September.

"We have offered to meet with them (the association) at any time we can get the boards together, and at no time has the SEA asked to meet," Patterson said.

He added, however, that a meeting has been requested by an attorney hired by the association. Patterson said that he does not believe it is legal for school boards and teachers groups to work through a third party.

Ohio Court Ruling Gives 'Go-Ahead' For Schools

East Liverpool school officials today received word from the Ohio Department of Education at Columbus to formally award a contract for construction of two elementary buildings to the Modany Brothers construction firm of Midland after the Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday refused unanimously to order the Board of Education to reject the firm's bid.

The action ends a long delay in one phase of the city's school building program launched last year. Construction now can begin on the East and LaCroft elementary buildings.

The action to have the $770,000 bid by Gabriel Modany rejected had been filed by the Riley Construction Co. of Salem on grounds of a bond deficiency.

The error in the bonding was later corrected. Riley's bid was $780,000, a difference of $10,000.

Riley Construction filed a mandamus action in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon in November 1966, claiming its bid was the "most responsible bid as required by law."

Since approval of the bids was given by the Ohio Department of Education, all parties involved agreed to bypass the lower courts and take the case to the Supreme Court.

Supt. Paul Blair said he was informed this morning by T. V. Utterback, chief of the building section of the state department, to have the Board of Education formally award the contract to Modany.

Modany will be given permis-

Youth Nabbed In Bid To Pry Coin Machine

A 19-year-old Midland youth was taken into custody early today by East Liverpool police while allegedly in the act of prying open a coin - operated machine in a St. Clair Ave. laundry to get at the money box.

Jerry E. Kirkpatrick of 638 Ohio Ave., Midland, was taken before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff this morning on a charge of "unlawfully, maliciously and forcibly attempting to force open" a hot chocolate vending machine in the Patterson-Wetzel Laundry on St. Clair Ave. near Grant St.

Police said Kirkpatrick was taken into custody at 5:02 a.m. by Patrolmen Paul C. Blevins and Charles Coen.

The officers said they were in the area in a cruiser when they received a radio alert that an attempt was being made to force open the machine.

They said they found Kirkpatrick in the laundry, attempting to force his way into the machine with a screw driver.

A 16-year-old Pittsburgh boy was found seated in a car outside the laundry, acting as look - out, officers said. He will be referred to Juvenile Court at Lisbon. Police said Kirkpatrick also may be charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Kirkpatrick faces a charge of attempting to force entry to a coin depository box, which is a felony under Ohio law.

Judge Chertoff read the charge to Kirkpatrick, but commented that he could not hold a preliminary hearing until the youth is represented by counsel. He continued the case until Monday at 9 a. m. to allow Kirkpatrick to engage counsel. No plea was entered. Kirkpatrick's appearance bond was set at $1,000.

Graham Gets Jail Term In Robbery Bid

BEAVER — David Graham, 26, of Weirton, who pleaded guilty to an attempted robbery in Midland in which a companion later died of a gunshot wound, was sentenced to 11 to 23 months in the Beaver County Jail Wednesday.

Darrell Grimes, 65, of New Brighton, convicted of being an accessory before the attempted robbery Dec. 11, 1965, was also sentenced to a similar term yesterday by Judge Frank E. Reed.

The two men were linked to the attempted robbery at the home of Walter Dardzinski of 2nd St., a coin collector whose gun discharged during a struggle at the home, wounding Stanley Simcox of Chester who died the following day at East Liverpool City Hospital.

Among those asking leniency for Graham were the Rev. Ernest Harrold and the Rev. Jerry Dietch along with Harold Davis, former Chester police chief, and Dominic Ludovici.

Judge Frank Reed declared, "This was a serious crime — a man is dead." He added, "This might well have been a murder case except for the laws of the state. The man might also have been alive today if he had been given immediate treatment."

Simcox, according to police, was first taken to a home then later to a hospital.

Also appearing for sentencing yesterday was Melvin Jones, 19, of Midland, accused of assault and battery in a complaint by John Buzzinoti, Midland teacher, following a fracas at a basketball game in Midland last fall.

Jones was ordered to pay costs and was placed on two years probation.

Youth Nabbed In Bid To Pry Coin Machine

A 19-year-old Midland youth was taken into custody early today by East Liverpool police while allegedly in the act of prying open a coin - operated machine in a St. Clair Ave. laundry to get at the money box.

Jerry E. Kirkpatrick of 638 Ohio Ave., Midland, was taken before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff this morning on a charge of "unlawfully, maliciously and forcibly attempting to force open" a hot chocolate vending machine in the Patterson-Wetzel Laundry on St. Clair Ave. near Grant St.

Police said Kirkpatrick was taken into custody at 5:02 a.m. by Patrolmen Paul C. Blevins and Charles Coen.

The officers said they were in the area in a cruiser when they received a radio alert that an attempt was being made to force open the machine.

They said they found Kirkpatrick in the laundry, attempting to force his way into the machine with a screw driver.

A 16-year-old Pittsburgh boy was found seated in a car outside the laundry, acting as look - out, officers said. He will be referred to Juvenile Court at Lisbon. Police said Kirkpatrick also may be charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Kirkpatrick faces a charge of attempting to force entry to a coin depository box, which is a felony under Ohio law.

Judge Chertoff read the charge to Kirkpatrick, but commented that he could not hold a preliminary hearing until the youth is represented by counsel. He continued the case until Monday at 9 a. m. to allow Kirkpatrick to engage counsel. No plea was entered. Kirkpatrick's appearance bond was set at $1,000.

Rail Strike Deadline Set For Saturday

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) — Railroads over most of the nation are threatened with a strike of train operating employes this weekend in a dispute over health and welfare benefits. The carriers say they will go to court to prevent a walkout.

A strike deadline of 12:01 a.m. Saturday was set by the Order of Railroad Conductors and Brakemen, affecting about 18,500 members and 60 to 70 railroads.

Clyde F. Lane, union president, said the carriers plan to cancel their agreement with the union on hospital, medical and insurance benefits Saturday in violation of the Railroad Labor Act.

He said that unless the benefits are continued the conductors and brakemen will quit work on all railroads except a few which have their own health and hospital plans with the union.

The walkout threat was termed "unlawful" by James E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the carriers in Washington.

Denying that the railroads plan to withdraw the union's benefit plan, Wolfe expressed confidence that the courts will grant them an injunction "and we will not permit them to carry out a strike."

Lane claimed that the carriers are attempting to use the issue to force the union into accepting a new wage-rules contract.

"This is the first time within our knowledge, he added, "that an employer has used the withdrawal of hospital, medical and insurance benefits for employes and their dependents as a club to force them to accept an inferior contract."

Wolfe countered that "under the terms of the policy contract, Travelers Insurance announced termination of the policy, giving both management and union 30 days notice of its cancellation."

Car Leaves Road And Hits Culvert

A car owned by James Farrow of Wellsville R. D. 1 was wrecked along Route 267, a half - mile north of County Rd. 424, Wednesday at 10:15 p. m., according to the Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Officers said the driver left the scene on foot before they arrived. The vehicle was northbound when it went off the right side of the road into a ditch and struck a culvert. Moderate damage resulted.

A Fairfield - Waterford School District bus operated by Alfred Cope of Columbiana R. D. 2 backed into a 1967 compact car operated by Carl Kemery, 32, of Columbiana yesterday at 3:30 p. m. on Route 344, about a mile east of Leetonia.

Officers said Kemery halted behind the bus and Cope then started to back up, striking the front of the Kemery car. Cope was cited for improper backing.

Finding Cause In Apollo Fire Seen Doubtful

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Olin E. Teague, a congressional space watchdog, said today, "I don't think we will ever know what caused that fire" which killed three Apollo astronauts.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) is expected to release its final report about April 8 on the January accident. The astronauts died in their spacecraft on a launch pad at Cape Kennedy, Fla., during tests.

Teague, a Texas Democrat and chairman of a subcommittee on space, said in an interview he has been in daily contact with the investigators and there has been no indication they have been able to pinpoint the cause.

He said he thinks the thousands of NASA and industry technicians responsible for the Apollo capsule always will have to wonder whether they might have had something to do with the accident.

Rail Strike Deadline Set For Saturday

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) — Railroads over most of the nation are threatened with a strike of train operating employes this weekend in a dispute over health and welfare benefits. The carriers say they will go to court to prevent a walkout.

A strike deadline of 12:01 a.m. Saturday was set by the Order of Railroad Conductors and Brakemen, affecting about 18,500 members and 60 to 70 railroads.

Clyde F. Lane, union president, said the carriers plan to cancel their agreement with the union on hospital, medical and insurance benefits Saturday in violation of the Railroad Labor Act.

He said that unless the benefits are continued the conductors and brakemen will quit work on all railroads except a few which have their own health and hospital plans with the union.

The walkout threat was termed "unlawful" by James E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the carriers in Washington.

Denying that the railroads plan to withdraw the union's benefit plan, Wolfe expressed confidence that the courts will grant them an injunction "and we will not permit them to carry out a strike."

Lane claimed that the carriers are attempting to use the issue to force the union into accepting a new wage-rules contract.

"This is the first time within our knowledge, he added, "that an employer has used the withdrawal of hospital, medical and insurance benefits for employes and their dependents as a club to force them to accept an inferior contract."

Wolfe countered that "under the terms of the policy contract, Travelers Insurance announced termination of the policy, giving both management and union 30 days notice of its cancellation."

Car Leaves Road And Hits Culvert

A car owned by James Farrow of Wellsville R. D. 1 was wrecked along Route 267, a half - mile north of County Rd. 424, Wednesday at 10:15 p. m., according to the Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Officers said the driver left the scene on foot before they arrived. The vehicle was northbound when it went off the right side of the road into a ditch and struck a culvert. Moderate damage resulted.

A Fairfield - Waterford School District bus operated by Alfred Cope of Columbiana R. D. 2 backed into a 1967 compact car operated by Carl Kemery, 32, of Columbiana yesterday at 3:30 p. m. on Route 344, about a mile east of Leetonia.

Officers said Kemery halted behind the bus and Cope then started to back up, striking the front of the Kemery car. Cope was cited for improper backing.

Finding Cause In Apollo Fire Seen Doubtful

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Olin E. Teague, a congressional space watchdog, said today, "I don't think we will ever know what caused that fire" which killed three Apollo astronauts.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) is expected to release its final report about April 8 on the January accident. The astronauts died in their spacecraft on a launch pad at Cape Kennedy, Fla., during tests.

Teague, a Texas Democrat and chairman of a subcommittee on space, said in an interview he has been in daily contact with the investigators and there has been no indication they have been able to pinpoint the cause.

He said he thinks the thousands of NASA and industry technicians responsible for the Apollo capsule always will have to wonder whether they might have had something to do with the accident.

An Outside Possibility

The United States now is in the awkward position of seeming to beg for a peace conference to settle in Vietnam what its generals despair of settling with military action.

It must not be overlooked that agitation for escalating the Vietnamese war still further comes from aviation hawks, who want to bomb everything within range.

There is no strident demand for stepped-up action in rice paddies, elephant grass and jungles. If it turned out that aviation hawks had overestimated the persuasion of air power, as they always do, the United States could find itself committed in Vietnam on a larger scale than before with nothing to show for it except an increase in military and civilian casualties.

The undeclared enemy theoretically should be seeking an end of the war by this time. That has been the strategic objective of escalation; as Sen. Dirksen once put it, "holding their feet to the fire."

But the undeclared enemy is withstanding the heat better than the United States.

President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam is not running for re-election.

No one on the other side is running for re-election.

No one on the other side is accountable to popular opinion.

In the very nature of popular government, the other side in the Vietnam war — the undeclared enemy — has the United States over a log.

The Johnson administration must account to its people for what it is doing; the other side does not. President Johnson insists we must persevere. President Ho does not have to persuade his side to persevere.

Granted that many of Ho's fighting men are sick of the war and deserting, he can count on the bulk of them to fight fiercely to repel what they regard as invasion of their native land.

An awful possibility is suggesting itself — that the undeclared enemy sees no reason to think about peace in Vietnam.

The 'Shut-Ins'

We ran across an article reminding that today is "National Shut-In Day" founded by Earl Rutter of Trutle Creek, Pa., in 1939.

Church groups and social organizations in the tri-state area apparently have been doing their bit to make life a little bit happier for those confined to "four walls" as evidenced by the many items that tell of cards being sent and visits being made.

The aforementioned article suggested that "shut-ins" be remembered the year 'round and offered the following "acts of thoughtfulness that can make you a good neighbor:"

A personal visit, a phone call, flowers, candy, greeting cards, gifts, doing errands and other acts of kindness.

If you know of a shut-in who would welcome companionship and a helping hand, there's no time like the present to make him or her your personal project.

Ohio Ombudsman Proposed

A proposal before the Ohio General Assembly would provide citizens with a Mr. Fix-it, an answer-man.

Sen. William B. Nye of Akron says he has been hearing complaints from Ohioans who claim they get the run-around from state agencies.

He feels Ohio is in need of an "ombudsman' who would check out complaints and watch administrators.

Proponents say legislators do not have enough time to check out justified complaints because of every-other-year sessions of the legislature.

The theory is good, but practical application is something else again.

To admit someone is getting the run-around is to admit some state employe is failing to get his job done properly. How about some effort to correct this?

Some complaints are legitimate. Others come from hard-headed troublemakers.

Would the ombudsman's reports carry enough weight to get unfair practices stopped? Or would it be just another dead end at taxpayers' expense?

Wonder how long it would be before an irate citizen called Mr. Ombudsman's office for the third time in two days only to hear a polite secretary reply, "I'm sorry, he's out of the office right now. May I have him call you?"

Right And Wrong

Senseless acts of vandalism continue — antennas ripped on cars, bricks thrown at passing autos and at windows, autos scratched, etc.

And the other day an area resident had a bullet pierce his windshield as he was driving home from Pittsburgh.

Such thoughtless misdeeds cause one to pause and wonder. Never was the need greater for emphasis on proper standards. Somewhere along the way the thinking of too many has become distorted for one reason or another.

There's no place like "home sweet home" to begin the "preaching." The difference between right and wrong should be pounded into the ears of those who need straightening out.

Slaughter The Cows!

By Truman Twill

When I finish this, I will walk into the twilight like an old-time movie hero, never to return again. I will make no trouble.

There will be a price on my head — mine and Ralph Nader's.

I am going to commit heresy about my country's sacred cow — the auto.

We need to learn a lesson from India and not let cow-worship warp our civilization.

I am not worried about highways, where autos are in motion. I am worried about autos when they stand still — the parking problem.

The problem is insoluble in its present proportions. The only way it can be handled is to alter the proportions.

That would give us another 20 years of grace in which to find a way to lick the problem. How do we change its proportions?

Simple.

We reduce the size of autos. We cannot do this by fiat because that would infringe on property rights.

So we do it by economic pressure. We assess autos by size on a sliding scale of taxation for highway taxes. We assess them on a sliding scale for registration in cities.

We charge for parking them on a sliding scale, too — top rates for behemoths, minimum rates for midgets.

We purge our minds of the sacred-cow concept and switch to a billy-goat concept. Cities outlawed billy goats a generation ago. It's time now to come to grips with automotive sacred cows. Penalize the behemoths.

If cars were half as big as they are now, on the average, there would be twice as much parking space and as much as three times as much driving space . . . right?

In Italy, where big cars are about two-thirds the size of America's medium-sized cars, the traffic and parking problems are horrendous. But had it not been for smaller cars, ancient Italian cities, with narrow, crooked streets and monumental buildings that cannot be razed for parking lots, would have been paralized by the auto era before the end of World War II.

As it is, their small cars whip around tight corners, skirt statues, park on sidewalks, between trees on boulevards, huddle in doorways and cluster in alleys like bugs in a barrel.

The idea is this — that the auto is transportation, not ostentation. It makes no transportation sense to use a massive vehicle to transport one person. It doesn't even make ostentation sense — not if it costs extra money to park the monster and run it on the highway.

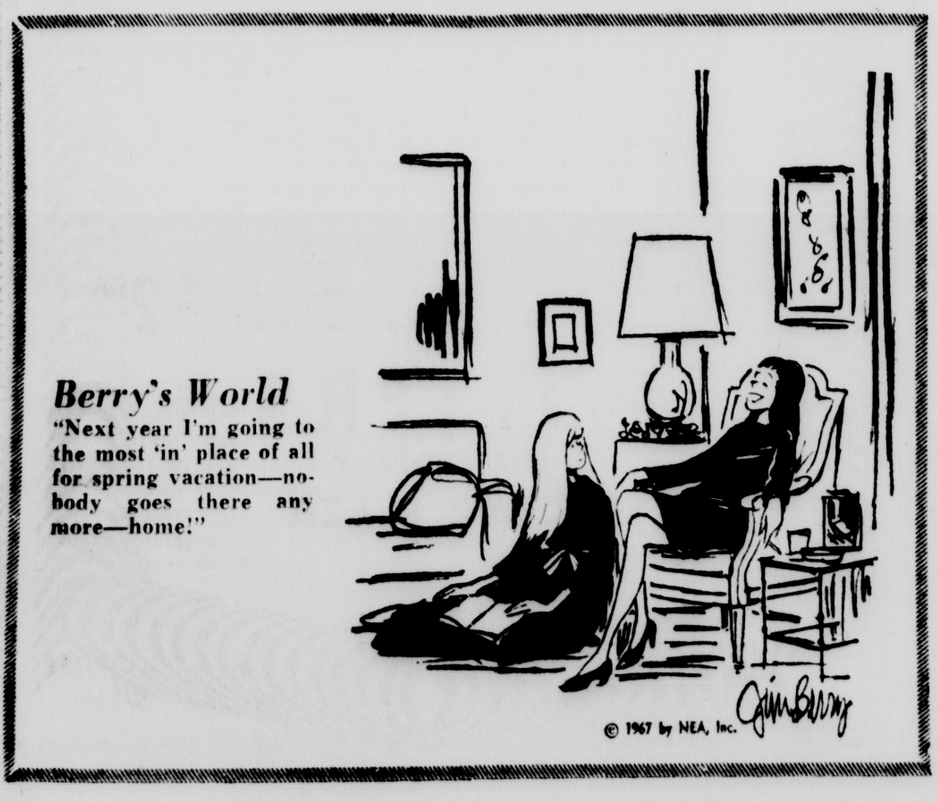
Okay, Detroit, run me over. But don't get me mixed up with Nader, who is opposed to small autos, among a thousand other things. I am opposed to Nader on that, among a dozen other things.

Don't Eat 'Em!

The absentminded gardener who nibbles on a flower, a seed or a root is courting danger. Many beautiful and innocent-looking common plants are poisonous, the National Geographic Society says.

The lily of the valley's fragrance and delicacy are misleading. This herb with bell - shaped flowers contains a dangerous drug similar to digitalis, the powerful heart stimulant.

Two of the world's handsomests shrubs — the oleander and rhododendron — are deadly.



Escalation On The Home Front

Free Speech For All?

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

The free speech movements on various campuses have become more militant in recent months and I, naturally, was interested to know what they were up to. So I went over to the Sitdown Institute of Technology to confer with an organization called the Students for Utterly Free Speech and the Preservation of Democratic Institutions Through the Exchange of Ideas Movement.

Art Buchwald

The young man in charge of the organization was very happy to speak to me.

"Sir," I said, "what is the purpose of the Students for Utterly Free Speech?"

"Our main purpose is to keep speakers who come to college campuses from speaking."

"That's a very idealistic goal," I said. "How do you do this?"

"It's quite simple. When the speaker starts talking we begin to heckle and shout at him so he can't be heard. The more he persists, the noisier we get and pretty soon everyone is shouting and if we're lucky it turns into a brawl."

"THIS PROBABLY sounds like a stupid question, but if your organization is presumably for free speech, why don't you let the speaker say what he has on his mind?"

"But we're not for free speech for the speaker. We're not free speech for ourselves. We demand the right to interrupt anybody any time he opens his mouth. This is still a democratic country and we have a right to prevent anyone we want from speaking."

"But if you don't hear what the speaker has to say, how do you know you disagree with him?"

"We know we disagree with him before he comes. Anything he says might just confuse us. We're not fools, you know."

"I didn't say you were," I said. "But let's say, for argument's sake, that a speaker may have something new to add to the debate. Don't you think he should be able to put forth his position at the university?"

"None of the speakers has anything new to say. Besides, if we let one speaker put forth his arguments, then we'd have to let other speakers put forth their arguments, and pretty soon you'd have all sorts of ideas floating around and it would hurt the free speech movement."

"HOW COULD it hurt the free speech movement?"

"Well, our members don't want to sit around listening to people making a lot of speeches all day. They like action. That's why they joined the free speech movement. We prefer to boo and shout a lot. It gets rid of our hostilities."

"I can see that. But on the other hand, look at it from the speaker's point of view. He's probably worked on his speech for several days; taken time off to come to the university. Shouldn't he be allowed to talk?"

"It's not our fault he went to all that trouble. If he were smart he would have just written the opening lines of his speech, and we would have seen to it that no one knew that was all he had to say. We'll cooperate with a speaker if he cooperates with us."

"Is there any situation where you would allow a speaker to finish his speech?"

"We don't like to make exceptions, but I guess if he used four-letter words we might let him finish. You see, our free speech movement believes we should be allowed to use four-letter words."

"How do four-letter words contribute to the cause of free speech?"

"It helps us understand the exchange of ideas."

A Moment Of Truce

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

There was a streak of unrealism in the proposal by U Thant, secretary - general of the United Nations, for restoring peace to Vietnam. The United States apparently told him so, but in a gentle way.

In short, a truce can be more complicated than he seems to imagine.

Originally Thant, a mild Burmese Buddhist, proposed three steps to end the war: a halt to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam; scaled down fighting by all sides; negotiations among the parties involved, including the Viet Cong.

The United States position was this: It would not halt the bombing unless North Vietnam gave some indication it was willing to tone down its side of the war. The United States had had some bombing pauses with no response from Hanoi.

At the same time this country had expressed willingness to discuss or negotiate without prior condition.

But North Vietnam took, and still does, the position that the way to restore peace is for the "United States to stop its aggression." So Thant's original proposal came to nothing.

Then Tuesday he unveiled his new proposal, although it had somehow been leaked and was known before he addressed his Tuesday news conference. He made his new suggestion in one-two - three order.

THERE WERE the three proposals: a general stand - still truce, preliminary talks and an international conference to return Vietnam to peace.

The Johnson administration promptly announced it had been informed by Thant previously about his three new proposals and had answered him, saying the United States welcomed his suggestions and was consulting its allies.

But buried in the middle of the American answer was this paragraph: "The United States believes it would be desirable and contributory to serious negotiations if an effective cessation of hostilities, as the first element in the three-point proposal, could be promptly negotiated."

This seemed to tell him, without being harsh about it, that a truce is fine but in order to get a truce the two sides have to discuss it first. There are some obvious reasons behind such thinking.

If there is going to be a truce, the two sides have to agree on some rules for it, for otherwise how could a stop in the fighting be assured in such a wide - ranging jungle war as the one in Vietnam?

And if there was no real truce, how could the two sides proceed to Thant's second step, the preliminary talks — after the truce — and before the big international conference?

And just hours before Thant made his proposals public North Vietnam seeme flatly to have rejected them, although the Hanoi answer itself seemed all gummed up.

Hanoi said Thant was departing from reality in calling upon both sides to cease fire and hold unconditional negotiations while the United States was committing aggression against Vietnam.

HANOI SAID the correct way to settle the Vietnam problem is for the United States to cease its aggression. But Thant's latest efforts have a background. The United States asked him last December to take whatever steps he considered necessary to bring about talks for a cease-fire. He went home to Burma and early this month met in Rangoon with North Vietnamese representatives to discuss peace possibilities.

Mostly, he got nowhere for when he returned to New York he was pessimistic, saying "the war is going to be prolonged and bloody." He said he saw no prospect for peace.

He told Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, about his new proposals and sent them to other interested governments March 14. The United States gave him its answer March 18.

South Vietnam accepted the proposals, too, perhaps with some ideas of its own. But, so this writer has heard, North Vietnam rejected them. Thant didn't say yes or no about that Tuesday.

Thant's idea of a truce without talks to arrange the truce has been called "amateurish," although not to his face.

Appeasement

By David Lawrence

Pacifists Seen Prolonging War

The theme of growing importance in world affairs today is how to end a war and save lives.

Pacifists, including several senators obsessed with the idea that a halt to the bombing of North Vietnam would terminate the conflict, seem to think if the United States stopped shooting, the other side would make peace.

This form of reasoning is called "appeasement." It proved futile before World War II. The net result was a six-year conflict and the loss of millions of lives.

There is frustration currently because, in the hope of placating the enemy, American armed services are being restricted in fighting the war as military men would like to fight.

In the Korean War, though the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff recommended unanimously that air bases and supply lines north of the Yalu River be bombarded, diplomats of governments friendly to the United States intervened and prevented such a strategy from being adopted by the United Nations command. Thus, the war was prolonged.

TODAY, THE Korean dilemma is being repeated. Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., former secretary of the Air Force, who has just returned from a trip to South Vietnam, has emphasized that U.S. military forces are being restrained and not being permitted to fight the war in Vietnam as they should.

The Missouri senator says there is "too much detailed instruction" being given by civilian officials in Washington as to the tactical conduct of the war.

Sen. Symington's lengthy report on his month-long Asian trip was submitted to the Senate Armed Services Committee and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee after having been cleared by the Defense Department, to eliminate classified information.

What was made public contains a significant revelation — namely, that talks with pilots indicate widespread dissatisfaction with interference by civilians in Washington with operations of the war. One pilot is quoted as having said:

"Twenty times I've been across the Phucyen Airfield not far from Hanoi. Not one of us has ever dropped a bomb on it. We see a MIG-21 taxi out and take off, then the next thing you know he is at you. They are well-trained, well-disciplined and carry out excellent maneuvers."

Other U.S. pilots said they wished they could destroy the MIG-21's on the ground and also "put some holes in their runway while they're airborne.'

When Sen. Symington asked what reason was being given the pilots for not doing this, the reply was "escalation, sir—but the enemy has already escalated the war in the air."

Fears have been expressed in diplomatic circles that if American pilots bomb air bases in North Vietnam, the enemy would start operating from Chinese bases. This, of course, is one of the risks of war.

BUT, IN the long run, military policy prevails —usually after expensive delays. No war can be won by making concessions to the enemy on the battlefield. Nor is a termination of hostilities likely as long as the enemy feels it has what are known as "privileged sanctuaries."

President Johnson, as commander-in-chief of the armed forces of the United States, makes the final decision on strategy in Vietnam.

It so happens that our allies there are ready to accept American policy. But Mr. Johnson is confronted with difficulties at home, as dissent increases because the public doesn't know the meaning of what is going on.

One growing segment of opposition to the administration now is demanding, therefore, that the war be fought without giving the enemy any "privileged sanctuary." There is a rising opinion that, unless restrictions are removed, the cost in lives to the United States and its allies will go higher and higher and the war will be drawn out for many years.

Only by such reports as Sen. Symington has made and similar disclosures will the American people learn that it is pacifists who are prolonging the war and people who cry "escalation" are breaking down the morale of the American forces.

This is making it more difficult to achieve the objectives for which so many American lives have already been sacrificed.

An Outside Possibility

The United States now is in the awkward position of seeming to beg for a peace conference to settle in Vietnam what its generals despair of settling with military action.

It must not be overlooked that agitation for escalating the Vietnamese war still further comes from aviation hawks, who want to bomb everything within range.

There is no strident demand for stepped-up action in rice paddies, elephant grass and jungles. If it turned out that aviation hawks had overestimated the persuasion of air power, as they always do, the United States could find itself committed in Vietnam on a larger scale than before with nothing to show for it except an increase in military and civilian casualties.

The undeclared enemy theoretically should be seeking an end of the war by this time. That has been the strategic objective of escalation; as Sen. Dirksen once put it, "holding their feet to the fire."

But the undeclared enemy is withstanding the heat better than the United States.

President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam is not running for re-election.

No one on the other side is running for re-election.

No one on the other side is accountable to popular opinion.

In the very nature of popular government, the other side in the Vietnam war — the undeclared enemy — has the United States over a log.

The Johnson administration must account to its people for what it is doing; the other side does not. President Johnson insists we must persevere. President Ho does not have to persuade his side to persevere.

Granted that many of Ho's fighting men are sick of the war and deserting, he can count on the bulk of them to fight fiercely to repel what they regard as invasion of their native land.

An awful possibility is suggesting itself — that the undeclared enemy sees no reason to think about peace in Vietnam.

The 'Shut-Ins'

We ran across an article reminding that today is "National Shut-In Day" founded by Earl Rutter of Trutle Creek, Pa., in 1939.

Church groups and social organizations in the tri-state area apparently have been doing their bit to make life a little bit happier for those confined to "four walls" as evidenced by the many items that tell of cards being sent and visits being made.

The aforementioned article suggested that "shut-ins" be remembered the year 'round and offered the following "acts of thoughtfulness that can make you a good neighbor:"

A personal visit, a phone call, flowers, candy, greeting cards, gifts, doing errands and other acts of kindness.

If you know of a shut-in who would welcome companionship and a helping hand, there's no time like the present to make him or her your personal project.

Ohio Ombudsman Proposed

A proposal before the Ohio General Assembly would provide citizens with a Mr. Fix-it, an answer-man.

Sen. William B. Nye of Akron says he has been hearing complaints from Ohioans who claim they get the run-around from state agencies.

He feels Ohio is in need of an "ombudsman" who would check out complaints and watch administrators.

Proponents say legislators do not have enough time to check out justified complaints because of every-other-year sessions of the legislature.

The theory is good, but practical application is something else again.

To admit someone is getting the run-around is to admit some state employe is failing to get his job done properly. How about some effort to correct this?

Some complaints are legitimate. Others come from hard-headed troublemakers.

Would the ombudsman's reports carry enough weight to get unfair practices stopped? Or would it be just another dead end at taxpayers' expense?

Wonder how long it would be before an irate citizen called Mr. Ombudsman's office for the third time in two days only to hear a polite secretary reply, "I'm sorry, he's out of the office right now. May I have him call you?"

Right And Wrong

Senseless acts of vandalism continue — antennas ripped on cars, bricks thrown at passing autos and at windows, autos scratched, etc.

And the other day an area resident had a bullet pierce his windshield as he was driving home from Pittsburgh.

Such thoughtless misdeeds cause one to pause and wonder. Never was the need greater for emphasis on proper standards. Somewhere along the way the thinking of too many has become distorted for one reason or another.

There's no place like "home sweet home" to begin the "preaching." The difference between right and wrong should be pounded into the ears of those who need straightening out.

Slaughter The Cows!

By Truman Twill

When I finish this, I will walk into the twilight like an old-time movie hero, never to return again. I will make no trouble.

There will be a price on my head — mine and Ralph Nader's.

I am going to commit heresy about my country's sacred cow — the auto.

We need to learn a lesson from India and not let cow-worship warp our civilization.

I am not worried about highways, where autos are in motion. I am worried about autos when they stand still — the parking problem.

The problem is insoluble in its present proportions. The only way it can be handled is to alter the proportions.

That would give us another 20 years of grace in which to find a way to lick the problem. How do we change its proportions?

Simple.

We reduce the size of autos. We cannot do this by fiat because that would infringe on property rights.

So we do it by economic pressure. We assess autos by size on a sliding scale of taxation for highway taxes. We assess them on a sliding scale for registration in cities.

We charge for parking them on a sliding scale, too — top rates for behemoths, minimum rates for midgets.

We purge our minds of the sacred-cow concept and switch to a billy-goat concept. Cities outlawed billy goats a generation ago. It's time now to come to grips with automotive sacred cows. Penalize the behemoths.

If cars were half as big as they are now, on the average, there would be twice as much parking space and as much as three times as much driving space . . . right?

In Italy, where big cars are about two-thirds the size of America's medium-sized cars, the traffic and parking problems are horrendous. But had it not been for smaller cars, ancient Italian cities, with narrow, crooked streets and monumental buildings that cannot be razed for parking lots, would have been paralized by the auto era before the end of World War II.

As it is, their small cars whip around tight corners, skirt statues, park on sidewalks, between trees on boulevards, huddle in doorways and cluster in alleys like bugs in a barrel.

The idea is this — that the auto is transportation, not ostentation. It makes no transportation sense to use a massive vehicle to transport one person. It doesn't even make ostentation sense — not if it costs extra money to park the monster and run it on the highway.

Okay, Detroit, run me over. But don't get me mixed up with Nader, who is opposed to small autos, among a thousand other things. I am opposed to Nader on that, among a dozen other things.

Don't Eat 'Em!

The absentminded gardener who nibbles on a flower, a seed or a root is courting danger. Many beautiful and innocent-looking common plants are poisonous, the National Geographic Society says.

The lily of the valley's fragrance and delicacy are misleading. This herb with bell-shaped flowers contains a dangerous drug similar to digitalis, the powerful heart stimulant.

Two of the world's handsomests shrubs — the oleander and rhododendron — are deadly.

Escalation On The Home Front

Free Speech For All?

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

The free speech movements on various campuses have become more militant in recent months and I, naturally, was interested to know what they were up to. So I went over to the Sitdown Institute of Technology to confer with an organization called the Students for Utterly Free Speech and the Preservation of Democratic Institutions Through the Exchange of Ideas Movement.

Art Buchwald

The young man in charge of the organization was very happy to speak to me.

"Sir," I said, "what is the purpose of the Students for Utterly Free Speech?"

"Our main purpose is to keep speakers who come to college campuses from speaking."

"That's a very idealistic goal," I said. "How do you do this?"

"It's quite simple. When the speaker starts talking we begin to heckle and shout at him so he can't be heard. The more he persists, the noisier we get and pretty soon everyone is shouting and if we're lucky it turns into a brawl."

"THIS PROBABLY sounds like a stupid question, but if your organization is presumably for free speech, why don't you let the speaker say what he has on his mind?"

"But we're not for free speech for the speaker. We're not free speech for ourselves. We demand the right to interrupt anybody any time he opens his mouth. This is still a democratic country and we have a right to prevent anyone we want from speaking."

"But if you don't hear what the speaker has to say, how do you know you disagree with him?"

"We know we disagree with him before he comes. Anything he says might just confuse us. We're not fools, you know."

"I didn't say you were," I said. "But let's say, for argument's sake, that a speaker may have something new to add to the debate. Don't you think he should be able to put forth his position at the university?"

"None of the speakers has anything new to say. Besides, if we let one speaker put forth his arguments, then we'd have to let other speakers put forth their arguments, and pretty soon you'd have all sorts of ideas floating around and it would hurt the free speech movement."

"HOW COULD it hurt the free speech movement?"

"Well, our members don't want to sit around listening to people making a lot of speeches all day. They like action. That's why they joined the free speech movement. We prefer to boo and shout a lot. It gets rid of our hostilities."

"I can see that. But on the other hand, look at it from the speaker's point of view. He's probably worked on his speech for several days; taken time off to come to the university. Shouldn't he be allowed to talk?"

"It's not our fault he went to all that trouble. If he were smart he would have just written the opening lines of his speech, and we would have seen to it that no one knew that was all he had to say. We'll cooperate with a speaker if he cooperates with us."

"Is there any situation where you would allow a speaker to finish his speech?"

"We don't like to make exceptions, but I guess if he used four-letter words we might let him finish. You see, our free speech movement believes we should be allowed to use four-letter words."

"How do four-letter words contribute to the cause of free speech?"

"It helps us understand the exchange of ideas."

A Moment Of Truce

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

There was a streak of unrealism in the proposal by U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, for restoring peace to Vietnam. The United States apparently told him so, but in a gentle way.

In short, a truce can be more complicated than he seems to imagine.

Originally Thant, a mild Burmese Buddhist, proposed three steps to end the war: a halt to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam; scaled down fighting by all sides; negotiations among the parties involved, including the Viet Cong.

The United States position was this: It would not halt the bombing unless North Vietnam gave some indication it was willing to tone down its side of the war. The United States had had some bombing pauses with no response from Hanoi.

At the same time this country had expressed willingness to discuss or negotiate without prior condition.

But North Vietnam took, and still does, the position that the way to restore peace is for the "United States to stop its aggression." So Thant's original proposal came to nothing.

Then Tuesday he unveiled his new proposal, although it had somehow been leaked and was known before he addressed his Tuesday news conference. He made his new suggestion in one-two-three order.

THERE WERE the three proposals: a general stand-still truce, preliminary talks and an international conference to return Vietnam to peace.

The Johnson administration promptly announced it had been informed by Thant previously about his three new proposals and had answered him, saying the United States welcomed his suggestions and was consulting its allies.

But buried in the middle of the American answer was this paragraph: "The United States believes it would be desirable and contributory to serious negotiations if an effective cessation of hostilities, as the first element in the three-point proposal, could be promptly negotiated."

This seemed to tell him, without being harsh about it, that a truce is fine but in order to get a truce the two sides have to discuss it first. There are some obvious reasons behind such thinking.

If there is going to be a truce, the two sides have to agree on some rules for it, for otherwise how could a stop in the fighting be assured in such a wide-ranging jungle war as the one in Vietnam?

And if there was no real truce, how could the two sides proceed to Thant's second step, the preliminary talks — after the truce — and before the big international conference?

And just hours before Thant made his proposals public North Vietnam seeme flatly to have rejected them, although the Hanoi answer itself seemed all gummed up.

Hanoi said Thant was departing from reality in calling upon both sides to cease fire and hold unconditional negotiations while the United States was committing aggression against Vietnam.

HANOI SAID the correct way to settle the Vietnam problem is for the United States to cease its aggression. But Thant's latest efforts have a background. The United States asked him last December to take whatever steps he considered necessary to bring about talks for a cease-fire. He went home to Burma and early this month met in Rangoon with North Vietnamese representatives to discuss peace possibilities.

Mostly, he got nowhere for when he returned to New York he was pessimistic, saying "the war is going to be prolonged and bloody." He said he saw no prospect for peace.

He told Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, about his new proposals and sent them to other interested governments March 14. The United States gave him its answer March 18.

South Vietnam accepted the proposals, too, perhaps with some ideas of its own. But, so this writer has heard, North Vietnam rejected them. Thant didn't say yes or no about that Tuesday.

Thant's idea of a truce without talks to arrange the truce has been called "amateurish," although not to his face.

Appeasement

By David Lawrence

Pacifists Seen Prolonging War

The theme of growing importance in world affairs today is how to end a war and save lives.

Pacifists, including several senators obsessed with the idea that a halt to the bombing of North Vietnam would terminate the conflict, seem to think if the United States stopped shooting, the other side would make peace.

This form of reasoning is called "appeasement." It proved futile before World War II. The net result was a six-year conflict and the loss of millions of lives.

There is frustration currently because, in the hope of placating the enemy, American armed services are being restricted in fighting the war as military men would like to fight.

In the Korean War, though the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff recommended unanimously that air bases and supply lines north of the Yalu River be bombarded, diplomats of governments friendly to the United States intervened and prevented such a strategy from being adopted by the United Nations command. Thus, the war was prolonged.

TODAY, THE Korean dilemma is being repeated. Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., former secretary of the Air Force, who has just returned from a trip to South Vietnam, has emphasized that U.S. military forces are being restrained and not being permitted to fight the war in Vietnam as they should.

The Missouri senator says there is "too much detailed instruction" being given by civilian officials in Washington as to the tactical conduct of the war.

Sen. Symington's lengthy report on his month-long Asian trip was submitted to the Senate Armed Services Committee and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee after having been cleared by the Defense Department, to eliminate classified information.

What was made public contains a significant revelation — namely, that talks with pilots indicate widespread dissatisfaction with interference by civilians in Washington with operations of the war. One pilot is quoted as having said:

"Twenty times I've been across the Phucyen Airfield not far from Hanoi. Not one of us has ever dropped a bomb on it. We see a MIG-21 taxi out and take off, then the next thing you know he is at you. They are well-trained, well-disciplined and carry out excellent maneuvers."

Other U.S. pilots said they wished they could destroy the MIG-21's on the ground and also "put some holes in their runway while they're airborne."

When Sen. Symington asked what reason was being given the pilots for not doing this, the reply was "escalation, sir—but the enemy has already escalated the war in the air."

Fears have been expressed in diplomatic circles that if American pilots bomb air bases in North Vietnam, the enemy would start operating from Chinese bases. This, of course, is one of the risks of war.

BUT, IN the long run, military policy prevails—usually after expensive delays. No war can be won by making concessions to the enemy on the battlefield. Nor is a termination of hostilities likely as long as the enemy feels it has what are known as "privileged sanctuaries."

President Johnson, as commander-in-chief of the armed forces of the United States, makes the final decision on strategy in Vietnam.

It so happens that our allies there are ready to accept American policy. But Mr. Johnson is confronted with difficulties at home, as dissent increases because the public doesn't know the meaning of what is going on.

One growing segment of opposition to the administration now is demanding, therefore, that the war be fought without giving the enemy any "privileged sanctuary." There is a rising opinion that, unless restrictions are removed, the cost in lives to the United States and its allies will go higher and higher and the war will be drawn out for many years.

Only by such reports as Sen. Symington has made and similar disclosures will the American people learn that it is pacifists who are prolonging the war and people who cry "escalation" are breaking down the morale of the American forces.

This is making it more difficult to achieve the objectives for which so many American lives have already been sacrificed.

Three Here Made Ill By Tank Fumes

A city woman and her two small children were made ill by fumes from an overheated and unvented hot water tank at 9:34 a. m. today, according to city firemen.

Made ill by the fumes were Mrs. Irvin McLaughlin of 929 Claiborne Ave. and her two children. Firemen were summoned to give oxygen to the three and found they had been taken outside by neighbors.

Firemen investigated and found the fumes coming from a hot water tank, which they said was so hot the back of the jacket was melting. The thin metal covering around the heater was "just bubbling and rolling down the back," one fireman commented.

The heater, located in the basement, was not vented.

The children were treated and released at City Hospital. The mother was admitted and was reported in "satisfactory" condition.

Fines Levied In Club Brawl

Robert Moore, 28, and James Flowers, 26, both of East Liverpool, were fined $50 and costs Wednesday by Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland when charges of felonious assault were reduced to assault and battery.

The reduction came at the request of the complainant, William Beder of New Brighton.

The two were arrested, along with Dennis Hill of Beaver Falls, early Monday after a fracas in the Half Moon Club on Route 20 near the Pennsylvania line.

Beder, Dale Fryer of New Cumberland and William Stoakes of Beaver Falls were all treated at City Hospital for wounds received when the defendants allegedly attacked them with hammers and chains.

The three also were charged with "conspiring and combining together with intent to inflict injury," but that charge was dismissed.

Moore and Flowers also were placed under a $500 peace bond for one year by Herron.

Three Here Made Ill By Tank Fumes

A city woman and her two small children were made ill by fumes from an overheated and unvented hot water tank at 9:34 a. m. today, according to city firemen.

Made ill by the fumes were Mrs. Irvin McLaughlin of 929 Claiborne Ave. and her two children. Firemen were summoned to give oxygen to the three and found they had been taken outside by neighbors.

Firemen investigated and found the fumes coming from a hot water tank, which they said was so hot the back of the jacket was melting. The thin metal covering around the heater was "just bubbling and rolling down the back," one fireman commented.

The heater, located in the basement, was not vented.

The children were treated and released at City Hospital. The mother was admitted and was reported in "satisfactory" condition.

Beder, Dale Fryer of New Cumberland and William Stoakes of Beaver Falls were all treated at City Hospital for wounds received when the defendants allegedly attacked them with hammers and chains.

Moore and Flowers also were placed under a $500 peace bond for one year by Herron.

Broader System On Student Help Proposed In Bill

By WILLIAM V. MERRIMAN
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A better break for Ohio college students needing financial assistance is provided in legislation introduced in the Ohio Senate Wednesday by State Sen. John Longsworth, R-Salem.

The bill, also offered in the House, would broaden the state's 7-year-old student loan system which Longsworth said officials estimate will be needed by 170,000 of the state's 460,000 collegians expected by 1972.

—:—

"EVERY qualified Ohio youth desiring to improve his skills, and, therefore, his job opportunities through education, should have an effective student loan program available," Longsworth declared.

The Ohio Higher Education Assistance Commission, established to provide up to 80 per cent insurance on student loans by banks and savings and loan companies, has underwritten $13.6 million in loans to date.

Default rate on repayment over this period has been less than 1 per cent, according to Byron H. Maddox, executive director of the commission.

A major feature of the new proposal is extension of the program to vocational and technical school students.

Other revisions would include:

Extending insurance to loans by credit unions and insurance companies.

Increasing the state guarantee from 80 per cent to 100 per cent.

Authorizing the state to administer federal loan programs in Ohio.

Raising loan guarantee limits from $1,000 to $1,500 a year for graduate study. Undergraduate ceiling would remain $1,000 a school year.

Making all loan contracts subject to the federal Civil Rights Act of 1964.

—:—

THE BILLS also would change the name of the state commission to the Ohio Student Loan Association.

Under the present program, 331 banks and 22 savings and loan companies are eligible for state insurance on student loans.

In floor action Wednesday, the Senate approved a bill sponsored by State Rep. Clarence E. Wetzel, R-Columbiana, to extend city and village treasurers' terms from two to four years.

Wetzel's bill, which already has a House okay, applies to municipalities under 100,000 population and affects nine villages and four cities in Columbiana County.

The House passed 71-22 another Wetzel bill, this one prohibiting the use of tires with metal spikes or studs from May 1 to Nov. 1 each year.

Police Chiefs Will Discuss County Force

LISBON — Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan of Columbiana County has called a meeting of police chiefs for 1 p. m. Friday in the Village Hall here.

Chief William McGuckin of Columbiana asked for the session to discuss a county police force — a proposal he made in his annual report to Columbiana village Council March 7.

His plan calls for a central identification and photo bureau, central control of licensing and permits, centralized service of summons and warrants, provision for centralized personnel records kept by various county courts and a program of standard traffic controls.

The county would be divided into several districts, each having a chief and all under the control of a police commission representing each municipality.

McGuckin said the sheriff's department would be the nucleus of the county department and coordinate activities.

Broader System On Student Help Proposed In Bill

By WILLIAM V. MERRIMAN
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A better break for Ohio college students needing financial assistance is provided in legislation introduced in the Ohio Senate Wednesday by State Sen. John Longsworth, R-Salem.

The bill, also offered in the House, would broaden the state's 7-year-old student loan system which Longsworth said officials estimate will be needed by 170,000 of the state's 460,000 collegians expected by 1972.

—:—

"EVERY qualified Ohio youth desiring to improve his skills, and, therefore, his job opportunities through education, should have an effective student loan program available," Longsworth declared.

The Ohio Higher Education Assistance Commission, established to provide up to 80 per cent insurance on student loans by banks and savings and loan companies, has underwritten $13.6 million in loans to date.

Default rate on repayment over this period has been less than 1 per cent, according to Byron H. Maddox, executive director of the commission.

A major feature of the new proposal is extension of the program to vocational and technical school students.

Other revisions would include:

Extending insurance to loans by credit unions and insurance companies.

Increasing the state guarantee from 80 per cent to 100 per cent.

Authorizing the state to administer federal loan programs in Ohio.

Raising loan guarantee limits from $1,000 to $1,500 a year for graduate study. Undergraduate ceiling would remain $1,000 a school year.

Making all loan contracts subject to the federal Civil Rights Act of 1964.

—:—

THE BILLS also would change the name of the state commission to the Ohio Student Loan Association.

Under the present program, 331 banks and 22 savings and loan companies are eligible for state insurance on student loans.

In floor action Wednesday, the Senate approved a bill sponsored by State Rep. Clarence E. Wetzel, R-Columbiana, to extend city and village treasurers' terms from two to four years.

Wetzel's bill, which already has a House okay, applies to municipalities under 100,000 population and affects nine villages and four cities in Columbiana County.

The House passed 71-22 another Wetzel bill, this one prohibiting the use of tires with metal spikes or studs from May 1 to Nov. 1 each year.

Police Chiefs Will Discuss County Force

LISBON — Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan of Columbiana County has called a meeting of police chiefs for 1 p. m. Friday in the Village Hall here.

Chief William McGuckin of Columbiana asked for the session to discuss a county police force — a proposal he made in his annual report to Columbiana village Council March 7.

His plan calls for a central identification and photo bureau, central control of licensing and permits, centralized service of summons and warrants, provision for centralized personnel records kept by various county courts and a program of standard traffic controls.

The county would be divided into several districts, each having a chief and all under the control of a police commission representing each municipality.

McGuckin said the sheriff's department would be the nucleus of the county department and coordinate activities.

During Meeting Here

Plans Are Put In Motion For New Boy Scout Units

Plans for organization of new scouting units were discussed during a meeting of 41 representatives from nine potential sponsors and Scout leaders Tuesday night at the Inn Town Motel.

The moderator for the meeting was J. Malchom Stenger, organization and extension chairman of the Cherokee District, Columbiana Council Boy Scouts of America.

Stenger introduced Francis Lang, who discussed the benefits of scouting in a sponsoring organization.

William T. Pomeroy, Boy Scout district chairman, emphasized the need for more scouting in the area. Harry Lessley, Cherokee District, executive, explained how scouting was organized and how to organize a scout unit.

The prospective units present were selected as the result of surveys and other research.

Groups represented included the Glenmoor United Presbyterian Church, Covenant Presbyterian Church of Wellsville, Knights of Columbus of Wellsville, the Highlandtown Grange, Bethesda Church at Summitville, the First Baptist Church of East Liverpool, the National Church Supply Co. at Chester, the West Point Volunteer Fire Department and the Boyce Methodist Church of East Liverpool.

It was pointed out that any group may sponsor a unit, the only requirement being to furnish leadership and a place to meet.

Only 15 per cent of area boys are members of units, and most units are nearly filled to capacity. The only way to increase the number of boys participating in the scouting program, therefore, is to increase the number of units available, leaders pointed out.

A goal of 30 per cent membership has been set by the organization.

Other possible sponsors will be contacted, Lessley said.

Cities Would Share With Suburbs

3 Ohio Mayors Assail Tax-Sharing Legislation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Legislation that would require municipalities to share city income tax revenues with their suburbs was assailed Wednesday night by the mayors of Canton, Columbus and Barberton.

Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner of Columbus delivered the most heated attack, asserting that the legislature "should be seeking new solutions to the problems of urban financing instead of taking away their revenues."

Sensenbrenner and the others testified against the bill before the House Local Government Committee. It would permit cities to levy a one and one-half per cent income tax without voter approval but at the same time require them to share 50-50 taxes collected from nonresidents employed in the cities.

Present law permits councils to impose a maximum income tax of one per cent. Any tax higher than that must have voter approval.

Sensenbrenner said Columbus "has no intention" of raising its income tax beyond one per cent and added that the tax is sufficient to take care of its own problems.

"I have nothing against the suburbs but if they want to incorporate then they should pay their own way. If they earn their living in Columbus, then they should help pay the freight," Sensenbrenner said.

Mayor Stanley Cmich of Canton told the committee that the bill would cost Canton from $150,000 to $300,000 a year at a time when the city's general revenue fund already is overcommitted due to recent municipal employe pay raises.

"It would bring on a deficit operation," Cmich said.

Mayor Kenneth Cox of Barberton expressed similar views but suggested as a possible compromise that cities be required to share with suburbs only the taxes levied in excess of one per cent.

Road Crews Still Planning On Walkout

GLEN DALE, W. Va. (AP) — Northern Panhandle hourly State Road Commission workers said Wednesday night they still plan to go through with their walkout if the SRC does not meet their pay increase demands.

An estimated 65 hourly workers met here to reaffirm their determination to call the walkout Friday night if State Road Commissioner Burl Sawyers does not come up with a pay increase package.

The workers throughout District 6 and in Raleigh and Fayette counties have demanded a 50-cent an hour pay raise plus overtime for all hours worked over eight in any one day plus wage stabilization.

Demands for stabilization in pay includes paying the men an adjusted rate when they are assigned to jobs in a higher pay category.

Sawyers recently offered the workers a 10 per cent increase, but the hourly employes rejected that as not being adequate. Sawyers estimated his plan would cost an additional $2 million per year.

Demands of the hourly workers have been estimated to cost the state about $10 million more per year.

Printers Strike Threat Eases In New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — The possibility of an immediate strike by the Printers Union against five of the city's major newspapers at midnight tonight appears to have eased.

Bertram A. Powers, president of Typographical Union No. 6, said Wednesday that his union did not plan to strike tonight even if no agreement has been reached by midnight when the current contract expires.

Powers said, however, that the union planned to put pressure on the New York Daily News. He said the News had been an obstacle to an over-all settlement. Powers said that instead of strike action he planned to hold a chapel meeting of printers at the News at 2 a.m. Friday. When chapel meetings are in progress no work is done.

The situation remained uncertain in other disputes between newspaper unions and the publishers of the News, The New York Times, the New York World Journal Tribune, the Long Island Star-Journal and the Long Island Press. The five newspapers are members of the Publishers Association of New York City.

The New York Post is not a member of the association and bargains separately.

BOY SCOUT LEADERS. Methods of organizing new Scout units are discussed, left to right, by Ronald Taggart of the Highlandtown Grange, Homer Mercer of the East Liverpool 1st Baptist Church, Richard Salsberry of the Wellsville Covenant Presbyterian Church, and Malcolm Stenger of East Liverpool, Cherokee Boy Scout District reorganization and extension chairman.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

During Meeting Here

Plans Are Put In Motion For New Boy Scout Units

Plans for organization of new scouting units were discussed during a meeting of 41 representatives from nine potential sponsors and Scout leaders Tuesday night at the Inn Town Motel.

The moderator for the meeting was J. Malchom Stenger, organization and extension chairman of the Cherokee District, Columbiana Council Boy Scouts of America.

Stenger introduced Francis Lang, who discussed the benefits of scouting in a sponsoring organization.

William T. Pomeroy, Boy Scout district chairman, emphasized the need for more scouting in the area. Harry Lessley, Cherokee District, executive, explained how scouting was organized and how to organize a scout unit.

The prospective units present were selected as the result of surveys and other research.

Groups represented included the Glenmoor United Presbyterian Church, Covenant Presbyterian Church of Wellsville, Knights of Columbus of Wellsville, the Highlandtown Grange, Bethesda Church at Summitville, the First Baptist Church of East Liverpool, the National Church Supply Co. at Chester, the West Point Volunteer Fire Department and the Boyce Methodist Church of East Liverpool.

It was pointed out that any group may sponsor a unit, the only requirement being to furnish leadership and a place to meet.

Only 15 per cent of area boys are members of units, and most units are nearly filled to capacity. The only way to increase the number of boys participating in the scouting program, therefore, is to increase the number of units available, leaders pointed out.

A goal of 30 per cent membership has been set by the organization.

Other possible sponsors will be contacted, Lessley said.

Cities Would Share With Suburbs

3 Ohio Mayors Assail Tax-Sharing Legislation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Legislation that would require municipalities to share city income tax revenues with their suburbs was assailed Wednesday night by the mayors of Canton, Columbus and Barberton.

Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner of Columbus delivered the most heated attack, asserting that the legislature "should be seeking new solutions to the problems of urban financing instead of taking away their revenues."

Sensenbrenner and the others testified against the bill before the House Local Government Committee. It would permit cities to levy a one and one-half per cent income tax without voter approval but at the same time require them to share 50-50 taxes collected from nonresidents employed in the cities.

Present law permits councils to impose a maximum income tax of one per cent. Any tax higher than that must have voter approval.

Sensenbrenner said Columbus "has no intention" of raising its income tax beyond one per cent and added that the tax is sufficient to take care of its own problems.

"I have nothing against the suburbs but if they want to incorporate then they should pay their own way. If they earn their living in Columbus, then they should help pay the freight," Sensenbrenner said.

Mayor Stanley Cmich of Canton told the committee that the bill would cost Canton from $150,000 to $300,000 a year at a time when the city's general revenue fund already is overcommitted due to recent municipal employe pay raises.

"It would bring on a deficit operation," Cmich said.

Mayor Kenneth Cox of Barberton expressed similar views but suggested as a possible compromise that cities be required to share with suburbs only the taxes levied in excess of one per cent.

Printers Strike Threat Eases In New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — The possibility of an immediate strike by the Printers Union against five of the city's major newspapers at midnight tonight appears to have eased.

Bertram A. Powers, president of Typographical Union No. 6, said Wednesday that his union did not plan to strike tonight even if no agreement has been reached by midnight when the current contract expires.

Powers said, however, that the union planned to put pressure on the New York Daily News. He said the News had been an obstacle to an over-all settlement. Powers said that instead of strike action he planned to hold a chapel meeting of printers at the News at 2 a.m. Friday. When chapel meetings are in progress no work is done.

The situation remained uncertain in other disputes between newspaper unions and the publishers of the News, The New York Times, the New York World Journal Tribune, the Long Island Star-Journal and the Long Island Press. The five newspapers are members of the Publishers Association of New York City.

The New York Post is not a member of the association and bargains separately.

Road Crews Still Planning On Walkout

GLEN DALE, W. Va. (AP) — Northern Panhandle hourly State Road Commission workers said Wednesday night they still plan to go through with their walkout if the SRC does not meet their pay increase demands.

An estimated 65 hourly workers met here to reaffirm their determination to call the walkout Friday night if State Road Commissioner Burl Sawyers does not come up with a pay increase package.

The workers throughout District 6 and in Raleigh and Fayette counties have demanded a 50-cent an hour pay raise plus overtime for all hours worked over eight in any one day plus wage stabilization.

Demands for stabilization in pay includes paying the men an adjusted rate when they are assigned to jobs in a higher pay category.

Sawyers recently offered the workers a 10 per cent increase, but the hourly employes rejected that as not being adequate. Sawyers estimated his plan would cost an additional $2 million per year.

Demands of the hourly workers have been estimated to cost the state about $10 million more per year.

Officials Eye Housing Sites

Two officials of the Chicago regional office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development came to East Liverpool Wednesday to inspect several tracts picked tentatively by the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority as the sites for two low-rent housing developments totaling 260 units.

The sites were examined by Joseph Ferguson and John Mogen, representing the federal agency, who toured the city in company with representatives of the city government, the City Planning Commission and the housing authority.

The officials flew back to Chicago last night after a dinner meeting with the local representatives. They indicated they will report on the acceptability of the sites within 15 days.

The housing authority has not made public disclosure of the location of the sites pending federal approval and a firm commitment to purchase.

The units will be constructed with federally-guaranteed loans. Preliminary planning funds of over $40,000 already have been cleared by the federal government. Plans call for 130 units for housing for the elderly and 130 more for low income families.

The visiting officials were accompanied by Mayor George Willshaw; George Steele, chairman, and Robert Owen of the City Planning Commission; Joseph Walters, Thompson Park superintendent; William J. Shoub of Wellsville, Aaron Eaton of East Liverpool, Mayor Dean Cranmer of Salem and Merrill D. Hall, executive director, representing the housing authority, and Architect Robert F. Beatty and R. L. Lewis, a representative of the architectural firm of James N. Porter, which have contracts to prepare plans for the developments.

The project of landing two men on the moon requires the efforts of 20,000 private firms.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I avoid snipping the fabric when cutting buttons from a garment?

A. — By sliding a comb between the button and the fabric, and then cutting the threads with a razor blade.

Q. — How can I prevent rick-rack from drawing or shrinking after it has been sewn on material?

A. — By immersing it thoroughly in hot water before unwinding it from its card. Dry it with a towel, then unwind it and sew it on either damp or dry.

Q.—How can I keep leftover glazing putty soft and in usable condition?

A.—Scoop it out of its can and wrap tightly in sheet plastic or in a plastic vegetable bag. This effectively keeps out the air and protects the putty from drying out. The putty can then be kneaded and softened before using while it is still in the bag.

Q.—How can I remove grease spots from walls?

A.—One good method is to dust a little talcum powder on the spot, let it set for about an hour, then dust off. The powder will usually absorb the grease and remove the spot.

Q.—How can I remove ink stains from fabrics?

A.—Rub boiled rice over the stain, then wash the article in clean water. You may have to repeat this routine. Also effective in the removal of ink is soaking the article in milk.

Tanker Hulk To Be Hit By More Bombs

LAND'S END, England (AP) — The Royal Navy ordered new air strikes with napalm and bombs today on the broken hulk of the supertanker Torrey Canyon, still clinging to The Seven Stones Reef off the southwest tip of England.

Parts of the blistered hulk of the hard-dying tanker still showed above water after surviving two days of bombing aimed at burning off millions of gallons of oil still inside the wreck.

In the past two days navy and air force planes have pounded the wreck and the oil slick around it with 98 thousand-pound bombs, 2,000 gallons of napalm, 9,800 gallons of aviation fuel and 16 rockets. Each night the rising oily sea doused the flames.

The navy's intention is not to sink the remains of the tanker but to destroy the oil she retains before it seeps out to increase the already heavy pollution of the beaches of southwest England.

One huge oil slick, from the cargo of 35.8 million gallons which has been escaping from the tanker since she hit the reef 12 days ago, was reported moving along the English Channel 20 miles south of Plymouth.

But local authorities in shore resorts already invaded by the oil said they believed most of it could be removed before the summer vacation season starts in July.

The navy planned to use booms — some more than a mile long — in an attempt to prevent the oil reaching more resorts and ports along the Channel coast.

Work was starting on a boom across the 1½-mile Needles Channel between the Isle of Wight and Hampshire. Ships will lay buoys across the Channel and a two-foot-deep net of polystyrene will hang between each buoy.

Official To End His Steel Career

PITTSBURGH—W. H. Wright, assistant to the vice president-engineering of the National Steel Corp. and a veteran of nearly 40 years service with the company, will retire Friday.

A native of Etna, near Pittsburgh, Wright began his steel industry career in July 1927 in the mechanical department of the Weirton Steel Division of National Steel. He was transferred to the engineering department at Weirton in 1929 and after a series of promotions in the department was appointed chief engineer in 1952.

He was elected vice president-engineering of the Weirton Steel Division in 1960 and in July 1962 was named assistant to the vice president - engineering of National Steel.

Testing Program Improves Cattle, Analysis Shows

LISBON — The Ohio beef cattle production testing program, now in its eighth year, is improving beef cattle, according to an analysis received at the Columbiana County extension office here.

Comparisons between 1959 and 1966 are furnished by W. W. Wharton, extension animal science specialist at Ohio State University. Enrolled in the program in 61 counties are some 175 herds of beef cattle with about 7,500 cows.

In 1959, the adjusted average daily gain for all calves was 1.77 pounds and these calves had an average type score of 12.3.

In 1966, the adjusted average daily gain was 2 pounds and the average type score was 13.

Wharton said this means that a calf in 1966, at an average weaning age of 205 days, weighed 47 pounds more than the 1959 calf and averaged seven-tenths of a point better in type.

Putting a dollar and cents value on the difference at $25 per hundredweight would mean $11.75 more for the increased weight and $5 more for the better type, or a total of $16.75 more per calf at weaning time.

Ex-Minister Faces Trial Over Liquor

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—George T. Short of Elyria, a former minister, will be tried in municipal court April 27 on a charge of keeping a place selling liquor illegally.

Short, 41, pleaded innocent at his arraignment Wednesday. He was arrested by state liquor agents Saturday and accused of permitting the sale of liquor at the Palace Ballroom.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower voted 181 bills during his term in office, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Tanker Hulk To Be Hit By More Bombs

LAND'S END, England (AP) — The Royal Navy ordered new air strikes with napalm and bombs today on the broken hulk of the supertanker Torrey Canyon, still clinging to The Seven Stones Reef off the southwest tip of England.

Parts of the blistered hulk of the hard-dying tanker still showed above water after surviving two days of bombing aimed at burning off millions of gallons of oil still inside the wreck.

In the past two days navy and air force planes have pounded the wreck and the oil slick around it with 98 thousand-pound bombs, 2,000 gallons of napalm, 9,800 gallons of aviation fuel and 16 rockets. Each night the rising oily sea doused the flames.

The navy's intention is not to sink the remains of the tanker but to destroy the oil she retains before it seeps out to increase the already heavy pollution of the beaches of southwest England.

One huge oil slick, from the cargo of 35.8 million gallons which has been escaping from the tanker since she hit the reef 12 days ago, was reported moving along the English Channel 20 miles south of Plymouth.

But local authorities in shore resorts already invaded by the oil said they believed most of it could be removed before the summer vacation season starts in July.

The navy planned to use booms — some more than a mile long — in an attempt to prevent the oil reaching more resorts and ports along the Channel coast.

Work was starting on a boom across the 1½-mile Needles Channel between the Isle of Wight and Hampshire. Ships will lay buoys across the Channel and a two-foot-deep net of polystyrene will hang between each buoy.

Official To End His Steel Career

PITTSBURGH—W. H. Wright, assistant to the vice president-engineering of the National Steel Corp. and a veteran of nearly 40 years service with the company, will retire Friday.

A native of Etna, near Pittsburgh, Wright began his steel industry career in July 1927 in the mechanical department of the Weirton Steel Division of National Steel. He was transferred to the engineering department at Weirton in 1929 and after a series of promotions in the department was appointed chief engineer in 1952.

He was elected vice president-engineering of the Weirton Steel Division in 1960 and in July 1962 was named assistant to the vice president - engineering of National Steel.

Testing Program Improves Cattle, Analysis Shows

LISBON — The Ohio beef cattle production testing program, now in its eighth year, is improving beef cattle, according to an analysis received at the Columbiana County extension office here.

Comparisons between 1959 and 1966 are furnished by W. W. Wharton, extension animal science specialist at Ohio State University. Enrolled in the program in 61 counties are some 175 herds of beef cattle with about 7,500 cows.

In 1959, the adjusted average daily gain for all calves was 1.77 pounds and these calves had an average type score of 12.3.

In 1966, the adjusted average daily gain was 2 pounds and the average type score was 13.

Wharton said this means that a calf in 1966, at an average weaning age of 205 days, weighed 47 pounds more than the 1959 calf and averaged seven-tenths of a point better in type.

Putting a dollar and cents value on the difference at $25 per hundredweight would mean $11.75 more for the increased weight and $5 more for the better type, or a total of $16.75 more per calf at weaning time.

Ex-Minister Faces Trial Over Liquor

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—George T. Short of Elyria, a former minister, will be tried in municipal court April 27 on a charge of keeping a place selling liquor illegally.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower voted 181 bills during his term in office, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Dental Care, Opportunity Are Outlined At Meeting

The statewide dental care and Economic Opportunity programs were discussed when the East Liverpool Dental Society sponsored a meeting at the East Liverpool Country Club Tuesday night.

Dr. William McCutcheon, president of the society, presided, with Dr. R. Jay Kinsey program chairman.

Dr. Kinsey and Miss Catherine Franzetta, director of the Community Action Committee of Columbiana County, Inc., served as moderators for a panel discussion.

Miss Franzetta briefly reviewed the part the CAC plays as the administrative office of this particular phase of the "War on Poverty."

Taking part in the program were:

Roger Hunter of Columbus, assistant to Director Al Wagner of the Dental Care Corp., who briefed the group on how a dental care program can be developed and the involvement necessary by the dentists and the CAC for administrative assistance;

Charles Samuels of Columbus, representative of the Ohio Office of Economic Opportunity, who discussed the possibilities of federal aid, the value of such a program and the possible reaction of the regional office at Chicago;

Charles Wilfing, federal coordinator in the Wellsville school system the last three years and an assistant in the "Head Start" program, who outlined the expectations of the regional office in conjunction with the dental phase of the program, and

Mrs. Helen G. Welch, chairman of the trustees of the CAC, who explained the governing policy of the board and its responsibility to evaluate and approve for submission those programs presented for final regional approval.

The group participated in a question - and - answer period after the presentations, with considerable interest displayed as to the probability and need of a program of this type in the area.

bined effort. It recommended a centrally - located joint vocational center for approximately 1,000 students or, in lieu of that, two separate centers serving 400 to 500 students each.

Nothing was done about the report because the emphasis at the time was on a county community college proposal which included a technical program.

Meanwhile, several high schools in the northern part of the county have joined in a cooperative vocational education program. Participating are Lisbon, Leetonia, Columbiana, United, Crestview, East Palestine and Salem, which for several years has had a vocational program supplying industries in its area.

Plane

Forest, Ill. "I opened the door and saw all those flames. We just ran. There was a series of explosions and breaking glass. The girls were hysterical, screaming and some throwing up."

The plane — the oldest DC8 in use by the airline — had been airborne only nine minutes before the crash occurred. It had arrived shortly before with passengers from Chicago. The night was balmy with a nearly full moon.

"It sounded like a giant whoof,' said one witness. "The plane was covered in flames like a ball of fire."

The jet smashed two houses before striking the motel. Wreckage of the plane was scattered in small pieces over a wide area. The largest single part visible was an engine cowling resting on the railroad track.

As the jet careened toward the motel, it split a wooden frame house, demolished another home across the street, hit a railroad track, skidded 100 yards and plowed into the motel.

The charred, decapitated body of a small boy was found in the remains of one home. A woman's body was nearby.

"I saw several bodies on fire in a field," said Jim Millet, an off-duty policeman who reached the scene minutes after the fiery crash at approximately 2 a.m. EST. "I heard screams coming from the Hilton Inn, and started leading people out."

Some of the guests were in their underwear with soaked towels around their heads, he said.

Parts of the airport and surrounding neighborhood were blacked out. Dozens of pieces of firefighting equipment were rushed to the scene, 15 miles from downtown New Orleans.

A temporary morgue was set up in front of the motel. Bodies were taken later to a freight shipping room in the airport terminal complex across the highway.

"I heard the whistling of a plane. Then there was a thud," said Charles Collins, a Paducah, Ky., businessman who was in his motel room.

"The son of a gun sounded real close. The building shook. There was a flash outside the room. Out of that room I came. There was a minor explosion, sounded like a gas tank blowing up.

"Several minutes later there was a bigger explosion," said Collins. He wore a raincoat over his underwear.

"Parts of the plane were flying through the air and big black smoke was belching 100 feet into the sky."

The plane made the world's first DC8 flight in 1959, from New York to Atlanta, an airlines spokesman said. The Delta pilots aboard on today's training flight were identified as: M.E. Watson, Houston, Tex.; J.W. Morton, Covington, La.; G. Piazza, New Orleans; W. T. Jeter, Norman, Ark.; D. E. Posey, Brookhaven, Miss., and W. A. Koon, an inspector for the Federal Aviation Agency.

An apartment building behind the motel, and near the path taken by the doomed plane, escaped unscathed. A resident, Jackie Hogan, said the crash "souned like a thud. It wasn't as loud as I would have expected. It sounded like it hit somethin concrete."

She said she could see bodies lying along the railroad track which runs behind the motel parallel to U.S. 61, the heavily traveled highway separating the Hilton Inn and the airport.

Mayor Cautions Motorists About Cyclist Hazards

Motorists driving in Midland have been cautioned by Mayor Eli Corak to use extreme caution on streets where children may be riding bicycles.

These areas are marked with signs, he said, and more youngsters are now out on bikes because of the warmer weather.

He suggested that anyone witnessing a motorist going too fast to obtain the license and notify police.

Mayor Corak pointed out many out - of - town drivers utilize side streets in a move to travel through the borough faster, and create a speed hazard.

CP Directors Hold Meeting

A report on the annual conference was heard during the meeting of the board of directors of the Columbiana County Affiliate of the United Cerebral Palsy Association Tuesday night at the Wick Hotel in Lisbon.

Mrs. Fred Perkins discussed the event which was held March 9-11 at New Orleans. She pointed out that the United Cerebral Palsy Research and Educational Foundation has provided funds to assist in efforts to isolate the virus of German measles, one of the major causes of cerebral palsy.

Among the national speakers participating in the program was Dr. Harriett Gillette, an authority on physical medicine and rehabilitation, who gave a closed-circuit television demonstration of "System of Therapy."

Richard G. Brian, president, reported that the Future Teachers of America at East Liverpool High School and members of the Key Club have undertaken several projects for the center in the clinic rooms at Mary Patterson Memorial.

It was reported that $2,729 has been collected throughout the county in the recent campaign.

Mrs. J. Donald Thompson and Brian, chairmen for the joint dinner meeting of the affiliate and the local Child Counseling Center, reported on the event to be held April 18 at St. Aloysius School.

The guest speaker will be Dr. G. Dean Timmons, senior neurologist and head pediatric neurologist of Akron Children's Hospital. His subject will be "Not All Crippled Children Wear Braces."

Members of the committee include Mrs. Ellen McDonald, Mrs. Barbara Jones, Mrs. Edna Jones, Mrs. Alex Fisher, Mrs. William White, Mrs. Sylvia Weinbren, Mrs. Hugh Kendall, Dr. Alex Fisher, Mrs. Marie Hays and Standley Hilbert.

Union Officers Link To Crime Syndicate Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Justice Department official's linking of unnamed union officers with the Cosa Nostra crime syndicate is termed "slanderous" by Teamsters Union Vice President Frank E. Fitzsimmons.

Henry Peterson, head of the Justice Department's organized crime and racketeering section, said at a National Crime Conference Wednesday: "I know to a moral certainty that in the upper echelons there is an amalgamation between the Teamsters and the Cosa Nostra."

But he declined to name any Teamsters officials in connection with his statement and told a newsman "our intelligence isn't good enough to say what the precise working relationship is. But it's more than clear they do operate together."

Fitzsimmons responded quickly to the charge, telling Petersen in a telegram that "such slanderous statements should certainly be based upon reliable evidence and not upon a 'moral certainty'."

Delaware was the first state to join the Union.

Sen. Ribicoff To Speak At Jewish Appeal Fete

PITTSBURGH — Abraham Ribicoff, U. S. senator from Connecticut, will be the principal speaker at the Tri - State Region United Jewish Appeal's spring luncheon conference and Israel's 19th anniversary observance April 9 at noon in the ballroom of the Penn Sheraton Hotel.

The announcement was made by the conference chairman, Herman Fineberg, Pittsburgh industrialist and civic leader.

Fineberg said the program also will include Don Brockett, who will present "The Fiddler," a song and comedy "extravanganza" originally written and staged by Janice Friedman and Brockett for the benefit of Brandeis University. Appearing with Brockett will be Audrey Roth and Barbara Klee.

Brockett is a comedy writer of some distinction, whose clients include Phyllis Diller, Phil Ford and Mimi Hines and Kaye Ballard. Recently he gave a command performance of his revue, "And Then We Wrote," for Carol Channing and the company of "Hello Dolly".

Ribicoff serves on the Finance Committee and the Government Operations Committee and brings to the Senate a wide experience and a broad background unique in American public affairs. He is the only public official who has served as a member of a state legislature, a judge, a member of the U. S. House of Representatives, a governor, a cabinet member and now a U.S. Senator.

During his tenure as secretary of health, education and welfare in the Kennedy administration, Ribicoff was responsible for some of the most far-reaching innovations in the history of that department and instituted an entirely new approach to welfare operations, placing great emphasis on rehabilitation.

Ribicoff is an attorney by profession and practiced in Connecticut before entering public life. Born in New Britain in 1910, the son of an immigrant family, he worked his way through the University of Chicago Law School and was graduated cum laude.

The 1967 goal for the Tri-State Region is $1 million and Fineberg is confident that approximately half that amount will be presented in community checks at the conference to be used toward the United Jewish Appeal national goal of $75,620,000.

Fineberg said approximately 500 from the 80 communities which comprise the Tri-State Region will attend the conference.

SEN. RIBICOFF
Will Be At Pittsburgh.

Restraining Order Issued In State Case

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A three-judge federal court said today it would extend a temporary restraining order prohibiting the federal government from enforcing some provisions of the wage and hour law until a decision is rendered on their constitutionality.

The court, asked to limit federal power over states, took the case under advisement Wednesday.

At issue is whether the 1966 amendments in the Fair Labor Standards Act are permitted under the federal-state system.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Food Lovers: At a friend's home the other night, I was served instant rice in a delicious new way.

She showed me how she fixed it by bringing the water to a boil, pouring in some frozen peas (according to the amount of rice being made), bringing the water back to a boil, stirring it once with a fork, then putting in the pre-cooked rice.

Not only did it add something green to plain white rice, but made it crunchy . . . especially yummy with gravy poured over it.

The boiling water cooks the peas and after the lid is put on the rice, it steams them perfectly. Absolutely on Cloud Nine.

HELOISE.

-:-

P.S. And if you're real cute, you'll put about five drops of yellow food coloring in that water before you dump in the rice.

It looks like it's loaded with butter, makes the rice yellow and, oh, what a difference it makes!

HELOISE.

Dear Heloise: For a budget-baby shower (where money is at a minimum) favors can seem quite expensive.

Here is a cute idea:

Make tiny three-cornered diapers out of pink and blue flannel, fold the regular way and secure them with tiny gold safety pins.

Then dip these in paraffin and when they harden a bit open the top of the diapers and shape them.

When cold and firm, mints or nuts can be placed inside for each guest.

A silver pin may be placed on one container and the person who gets it receives the door prize.

SHIRLEY NETHERTON.

Dear Heloise: Here's what to do if you have trouble getting glass curtains to hang right.

I washed mine and hung them up damp. Then I pinned the pleats in place.

Now, here comes the finishing touch!

I sprayed them all over with starch and let dry.

Then I removed the pins and had beautiful even pleats that will stay in place until they have to be washed again.

MRS. SHEILA MOORE.

Dear Heloise: I saw the hint in your column about cutting the top of a sock off to make sweaters for teenage fashion dolls.

I have found use for the whole sock. The toe makes a doll's cap. By cutting just in front of the heel, you can make a sleeveless beach jacket by just cutting armholes, leaving the heel for the hood.

PAM GODFREY.

LETTER OF THOUGHT

Dear Heloise: An elderly lady gave me this suggestion years ago and now I would like to pass it on to others.

"When you pick up something, put it where it belongs right then. If you lay it down, you have to pick it up again and go through the thinking process once more as to what to do with it . . . and eventually take it there.

Have a place for everything and keep everything in its place.

Then each member of the family will know where to find it and housekeeping is easy."

A FRIEND.

-:-

Ladies, this is the wisest and truest letter I have read in a month-of-Sundays.

How much easier housekeeping would be if every member of a family would follow this advice. Then most of the burden wouldn't fall on Mother as it usually does.

I love and respect these wise people with many years of experience.

HELOISE.

Dear Heloise: I have found an easy way to handle curlers while putting up someone else's hair.

I lay a towel over a pulled-out drawer and dump the curlers on top of it. They will be at arm's reach.

When ready to put 'em away, I just push the towel and all into the curler bag and draw it out leaving the curlers inside.

There's no mess this way and its quite handy.

SUE.

Resigns At Clinic

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. William J. Kolff, who developed the first successful artificial kidney and currently on the staff of Cleveland Clinic, has resigned to become a professor of surgery at the University of Utah's College of Medicine in Salt Lake City.

Amvit Makes Final Offer In Negotiations

A spokesman of the American Vitrified Products Co. announced today that the final offer has been made in negotiations on a new contract with Local 849 of the United Brick and Clay Workers Union.

The present agreement will expire at midnight Saturday.

The spokesman said the union is offered a choice of two "packages."

The first is a new three-year contract as proposed, with a total money offer of 62 cents an hour over the three-year period. This includes a wage increase of 8 cents an hour for each year of the agreement and 2 2-3 per cent to incentive workers each year. There would be a shift differential of 7 cents an hour for the afternoon shift, beginning in the third year, and a 5-cent-an-hour shift differential on the midnight shift, also beginning in the third year.

In the second package there is no change in the terms and conditions of the expiring agreement for three years, the spokesman said. Wage increases of 3 cents an hour, with 1 per cent for incentive workers, would be granted in each of the three years.

Calling the first "package" the largest presented in almost 20 years, the company spokesman said:

"It is offered because AMVIT expects to continue its modernization program to increase the efficiency of the plants and hopes to constantly improve the quality of its products so that it can stay in business and continue to offer good jobs and security to its employes. The contract proposed will assist in this effort."

The firm said if an impasse continues to exist in bargaining on Saturday, the first "package" will be put into effect Sunday and employes in the plant may work under the new terms and conditions.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Food Lovers: At a friend's home the other night, I was served instant rice in a delicious new way.

She showed me how she fixed it by bringing the water to a boil, pouring in some frozen peas (according to the amount of rice being made), bringing the water back to a boil, stirring it once with a fork, then putting in the pre-cooked rice.

Not only did it add something green to plain white rice, but made it crunchy . . . especially yummy with gravy poured over it.

HELOISE.

-:-

P.S. And if you're real cute, you'll put about five drops of yellow food coloring in that water before you dump in the rice.

It looks like it's loaded with butter, makes the rice yellow and, oh, what a difference it makes!

HELOISE.

Dear Heloise: For a budget-baby shower (where money is at a minimum) favors can seem quite expensive.

Here is a cute idea:

Make tiny three-cornered diapers out of pink and blue flannel, fold the regular way and secure them with tiny gold safety pins.

Then dip these in paraffin and when they harden a bit open the top of the diapers and shape them.

When cold and firm, mints or nuts can be placed inside for each guest.

A silver pin may be placed on one container and the person who gets it receives the door prize.

SHIRLEY NETHERTON.

Dear Heloise: Here's what to do if you have trouble getting glass curtains to hang right.

I washed mine and hung them up damp. Then I pinned the pleats in place.

Now, here comes the finishing touch!

I sprayed them all over with starch and let dry.

Then I removed the pins and had beautiful even pleats that will stay in place until they have to be washed again.

MRS. SHEILA MOORE.

Dear Heloise: I saw the hint in your column about cutting the top of a sock off to make sweaters for teenage fashion dolls.

I have found use for the whole sock. The toe makes a doll's cap. By cutting just in front of the heel, you can make a sleeveless beach jacket by just cutting armholes, leaving the heel for the hood.

PAM GODFREY.

LETTER OF THOUGHT

Dear Heloise: An elderly lady gave me this suggestion years ago and now I would like to pass it on to others.

"When you pick up something, put it where it belongs right then. If you lay it down, you have to pick it up again and go through the thinking process once more as to what to do with it . . . and eventually take it there.

Have a place for everything and keep everything in its place.

A FRIEND.

-:-

Ladies, this is the wisest and truest letter I have read in a month-of-Sundays.

How much easier housekeeping would be if every member of a family would follow this advice. Then most of the burden wouldn't fall on Mother as it usually does.

I love and respect these wise people with many years of experience.

HELOISE.

Dear Heloise: I have found an easy way to handle curlers while putting up someone else's hair.

I lay a towel over a pulled-out drawer and dump the curlers on top of it. They will be at arm's reach.

When ready to put 'em away, I just push the towel and all into the curler bag and draw it out leaving the curlers inside.

There's no mess this way and its quite handy.

Amvit Makes Final Offer In Negotiations

A spokesman of the American Vitrified Products Co. announced today that the final offer has been made in negotiations on a new contract with Local 849 of the United Brick and Clay Workers Union.

The present agreement will expire at midnight Saturday.

The spokesman said the union is offered a choice of two "packages."

The first is a new three-year contract as proposed, with a total money offer of 62 cents an hour over the three-year period. This includes a wage increase of 8 cents an hour for each year of the agreement and 2 2-3 per cent to incentive workers each year. There would be a shift differential of 7 cents an hour for the afternoon shift, beginning in the third year, and a 5-cent-an-hour shift differential on the midnight shift, also beginning in the third year.

In the second package there is no change in the terms and conditions of the expiring agreement for three years, the spokesman said. Wage increases of 3 cents an hour, with 1 per cent for incentive workers, would be granted in each of the three years.

Calling the first "package" the largest presented in almost 20 years, the company spokesman said:

"It is offered because AMVIT expects to continue its modernization program to increase the efficiency of the plants and hopes to constantly improve the quality of its products so that it can stay in business and continue to offer good jobs and security to its employes. The contract proposed will assist in this effort."

The firm said if an impasse continues to exist in bargaining on Saturday, the first "package" will be put into effect Sunday and employes in the plant may work under the new terms and conditions.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I am a young man who has been married less than three years. I guess I'm a rotten husband, at least this is what my wife keeps telling me.

I have never received one word of encouragement from my wife about my work or my efforts around the house. No matter what I do, she tells me her father can do it better and that next time she'll call him and get it done right.

I have had three coffee dates with a very attractive girl at work. She tells me I'm great and she makes me feel like a man. I know I could easily get into trouble with this girl if I continued to see her, so I'm going to cut it out.

Please tell me what I can do to get a decent response out of my wife. I am — OPEN FOR SUGGESTIONS.

Dear Open: Your letter is unusual. Generally this complaint comes from wives, not husbands. The yearning for approval knows no gender, however, and I am printing your letter to remind both husbands and wives that a few words of praise can bring magical results.

To you, sir, I pose this question: When did you last give your wife a verbal bouquet? As a rule, those who give — get.

The Underdog

Dea Ann: I came upon this ad today. It was paid for by Harper & Row's Elementary - High School Textbook Division. I found it provocative and thought perhaps you might think it worthy of your column. Here it is:

"What does a teacher do all day?

"She's mother, father, warden, clergyman, traffic controller, philosopher, friend, psychologist. Maybe zoo keeper, some days.

"Teachers don't mind. They welcome responsibility. But they would like a little something to go with it.

"Money, sure. But what about a little recognition? And a little understanding?

"According to some people, the teacher's job is to comfort the troubled, and trouble the comfortable. And other people say she is supposed to understand those not good at explaining, and explain to those not good at understanding.

"What would it take to get you to close yourself up in a room day after day with 30 high-spirited American youngsters?" — AN ANN FAN.

Dear Fan: Thank you for letting us all see this superb description of some of America's greatest heroines. The value of a good teacher is beyond calculation.

Ann's Secret

Dear Ann: I read your column every day and I'd like to know how you keep your sanity answering questions put to you by crackpots, screwballs and weirdos, not to mention people who are rude, vulgar, insulting and out to get your blood pressure up.

Please reply in print. I'll bet others would like to know your secret, too. — MR. INQUISITIVE.

Dear Mr: For every crackpot, screwball and weirdo there are at least 1,000 sincere, decent, warm-hearted people who earnestly are seeking help. I concentrate on these people and ignore the others.

To Take It or Leave It?: My advice is to leave it. Chances are good that you will do better. My frank opinion is that you couldn't possibly do worse.

Field Completed In Junior Play

Rosters for the final two entries in the Nonpareil Club Invitational Junior Basketball Tournament to be staged Saturday night were completed today according to Don Smith, president.

All - State Ken Durrett and his Schenley teammates make up most of the Kwik Kleen entry while George Bright's Real Estate has entered a team of leading players from the Toledo area to round out the four-team field.

DURRETT, who has been playing in tournaments here since he was a freshman, is a two - time all - state center who led Schenley to the Pennsylvania state title in 1966 but lost this year in the Regional finals to mighty Ambridge.

The 6-6 Durrett averaged almost 25 points per game throughout the season and has been one of Western Pennsylvania's outstanding players for the past three seasons.

JOINING Durrett are teammates Montel Brundage and Ed Gibson along with Ed Kemp, the 6-6 star from Pittsburgh Westinghouse and Ray Greene, a 6-3 jumping jack, who rewrote the record books at Greensburg High School this past season.

Both Durrett and Greene are members of the Pennsylvania stars who will oppose the United States stars in the Roundball Classic Friday night in Pittsburgh.

SMITH also announced a possibility exists that one or two members of the United States Stars playing in Pittsburgh Friday may appear here Saturday.

Bright's has entered a team composed mostly of top talent from the Toledo area with the addition of Steve and Paul Litz, a brother combination from Pittsburgh who stand 6-6. Steve Litz, South Hills Catholic standout, signed Wednesday to attend Duke University on a basketball scholarship.

Joining the Litz brothers are Max Miller, a 6-4 first team all-State Class A player from Holgate High School near Toledo. Other members of the team are Ed Taylor, 6-4, of Toledo Macomber, Steve Shay, 6-foot of Toledo Central, Don Bell 6-6 and Jeff Jones 5-9 both of Toledo Libby.

PAIRINGS for the tournament will be announced Friday and the other two teams are Jill's Jiants which includes Jim (Bubbles) Harris, Ohio's player of the year from Lorain Admiral King and Riverview Florists with All - Pennsylvania Bob Rhoades, East Liverpool's Vern Smith, the 6-8 Nelson twins from Fox Chapel and Mike Sherwood, an all - Ohio pick from Bellaire.

The first game Saturday at Memorial Auditorium will begin at 7 with the second contest about 8:30 and the championship tilt at 10.

Tickets are $2 for reserve seats and $1 general admission are on sale at Fullerton's Barbershop, Sportsmen's Barbershop, Heimie's, Reark's and First National Auto Bank.

More Legal Maneuvering Seen By Clay Over Draft

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay came to his former home town and suffered two setbacks in his fight to stay out of the Army.

The champ was denied a court order to prevent his induction. And, a draft board in Houston, Texas, the town Clay now calls home, sent him word to appear April 28 for induction.

The aftermath of Wednesday's action on the two fronts apparently will be more legal maneuvering.

Attorney Hayden C. Covington of New York said he would appeal the federal court decision to the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati and to the Supreme Court. He also indicated he might start legal action in Houston before the induction date.

Clay, meanwhile, conferred for an hour Wednesday with Dr. Martin Luther King, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. Neither would say what they talked about but said they had some problems in common.

Clay then went to a meeting Wednesday night of advocates for an open housing law that is pending in Louisville.

Clay was due to be inducted April 11. He asked that his case be transferred to Texas. A spokesman for the Houston draft board said the induction notice was mailed Wednesday, shortly after the change of board request was received from Louisville.

"There was an April 28 call already set up before we received approval of his request to be in our jurisdiction," said a spokesman for the Houston board. "There are several others included in the call. He received no special privileges nor penalties."

Clay petitioned U.S. District Court to create a panel of three judges to rule on his suit to suspend the draft of all Kentucky Negroes while the court decided if Clay should be inducted. Clay argued there was racial imbalance on the draft board at Louisville.

Judge James F. Gordon refused to grant an order of this kind and said Clay didn't have the right to take the case to court until he had gone through the draft procedure. The judge said he was not ruling on the merits of the case.

Royals Coach Resigns, Moves To San Diego

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals can expect to have a new coach "within a week to ten days," General Manager Pepper Wilson said after the announcement that Jack McMahon has accepted another job.

McMahon, who had led the Royals since 1963, Wednesday was named coach and general manager of the new National Basketball Association team at San Diego.

There had been talk that Mcmahon's days at Cincinnati were numbered ever since the Royals went on a losing streak last season. The team finished with a 39-42 record for third place in the NBA's Eastern Division. McMahon's record in the NBA is 199-160.

"I think Jack did a very good job for us," Wilson said Wednesday night when reached by telephone at Denver. "San Diego asked for permission to talk to him about that job a month ago, and we gave them permission. His interest in the job was an open secret.

"Jack was sensible enough to know that a change was in the picture."

Findlay Cager Named One Of Best In NAIA

KANSAS CITY (AP)— Jim Carder of Findlay College in Ohio has been chosen one of the NAIA's 15 best basketball players.

He was named Wednesday night to the All-America third team of the small college association, while fellow Ohioans Jim Batista of Ashland and Al Knott of Cedarville gained honorable mention — along with Carder's twin, Jerry of Findlay.

Kerr Picked Best Coach In NBA Play

NEW YORK (AP) — John (Red) Kerr of the Chicago Bulls was named the Coach of the Year in the National Basketball Association today.

Kerr led the Bulls into the Western Division playoffs in their first NBA season. They lost to St. Louis in the semifinals.

Kerr, a former star at Illinois set an NBA record by playing in 917 consecutive games with the Syracuse Nationals, Philadelphia 76ers and Baltimore Bullets before turning to coaching.

Kerr won Coach of the Year honors with 17 votes in the balloting of a 30-man committee of sports writers, three from each NBA city.

Alex Hannum of the Philadelphia 76ers, Eastern Division champs, was second in the voting with 11. Bill Sharman of the San Francisco Warriors, the Western Division champs, was third with two. No other coach received a vote.

All-Star Game Slated At Erie

ERIE, Pa. — Bob McKinnon, head basketball coach at Canisius, will coach the North squad and Virginia coach Bill Gibson will handle the South team in the third annual North - South all-star roundball classic here April 8.

Players from the East and Midwest will be pitted against stars from the Atlantic Coast, southern and Southeastern conferences in the game sponsored by a group of Erie sportsmen and the Erie Times-News.

Team rosters have not been announced.

Warriors, Hawks Launch Playoffs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Western Division, National Basketball Association Championship series opens here tonight with both coaches quietly confident — and without an alibi.

"Our club is ready, both mentally and physically," said player-coach Richie Guerin of the St. Louis Hawks. "Our chances of winning are excellent."

Warrior Coach Bill Sharman said much the same and noted that his recently injury-riddled players are near a peak.

Guerin fears Rick Barry, the NBA's leading scorer with a 35.6 season average, and Nate Thurmond, the good-scoring rebounding ace whose mid-season injury-forced absence saw the Warriors plunge into a losing streak.

"The effectiveness of Zelmo Beaty and Gene Tormohlen against Barry probably will determine the outcome," he said.

If the Hawks stop Barry, what about Thurmond?

"We've got to keep Thurmond from the boards," the coach replied.

He expects the series to be decided there. Thurmond has averaged 21.3 rebounds this season and 18.7 points.

The Warriors go into this best four-of-seven series with a 5-4 season record against the Hawks. The second game will be played in the Cow Palace here Saturday night. Then the teams play in St. Louis next week on Wednesday and Saturday. Additional games, as needed, will be in San Francisco on April 10, St. Louis April 12 and San Francisco April 14.

The division champion then goes into the league championship series, also four-of-seven, against the Eastern Division winner, Philadelphia or Boston. The series opens Friday at Philadelphia.

U.S. Goalie Named Best In Tourney

VIENNA (AP) — The United States finished fifth in the World Ice Hockey Championships, won by Russia for the fifth straight time, but the American goalie, Carl Wetzel of Detroit, was named today as the best netminder of the tournament.

The 27-year-old Wetzel was the only goalie to score two shutouts. He isn't eligible to compete on the U.S. team in the Winter Olympic Games next year, however, because he has had some professional experience.

The unbeaten Russians completed a sweep of their games by beating Czechoslovakia 4-2 Wednesday for their seventh straight. The Soviets placed four men on the All-Star team picked by sports writers.

Royals Coach Resigns, Moves To San Diego

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals can expect to have a new coach "within a week to ten days," General Manager Pepper Wilson said after the announcement that Jack McMahon has accepted another job.

McMahon, who had led the Royals since 1963, Wednesday was named coach and general manager of the new National Basketball Association team at San Diego.

There had been talk that Mcmahon's days at Cincinnati were numbered ever since the Royals went on a losing streak last season. The team finished with a 39-42 record for third place in the NBA's Eastern Division. McMahon's record in the NBA is 199-160.

"I think Jack did a very good job for us," Wilson said Wednesday night when reached by telephone at Denver. "San Diego asked for permission to talk to him about that job a month ago, and we gave them permission. His interest in the job was an open secret.

"Jack was sensible enough to know that a change was in the picture."

Kerr Picked Best Coach In NBA Play

NEW YORK (AP) — John (Red) Kerr of the Chicago Bulls was named the Coach of the Year in the National Basketball Association today.

Kerr led the Bulls into the Western Division playoffs in their first NBA season. They lost to St. Louis in the semifinals.

Kerr, a former star at Illinois set an NBA record by playing in 917 consecutive games with the Syracuse Nationals, Philadelphia 76ers and Baltimore Bullets before turning to coaching.

Kerr won Coach of the Year honors with 17 votes in the balloting of a 30-man committee of sports writers, three from each NBA city.

Alex Hannum of the Philadelphia 76ers, Eastern Division champs, was second in the voting with 11. Bill Sharman of the San Francisco Warriors, the Western Division champs, was third with two. No other coach received a vote.

Warriors, Hawks Launch Playoffs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Western Division, National Basketball Association Championship series opens here tonight with both coaches quietly confident — and without an alibi.

"Our club is ready, both mentally and physically," said player-coach Richie Guerin of the St. Louis Hawks. "Our chances of winning are excellent."

Warrior Coach Bill Sharman said much the same and noted that his recently injury-riddled players are near a peak.

Guerin fears Rick Barry, the NBA's leading scorer with a 35.6 season average, and Nate Thurmond, the good-scoring rebounding ace whose mid-season injury-forced absence saw the Warriors plunge into a losing streak.

"The effectiveness of Zelmo Beaty and Gene Tormohlen against Barry probably will determine the outcome," he said.

If the Hawks stop Barry, what about Thurmond?

"We've got to keep Thurmond from the boards," the coach replied.

He expects the series to be decided there. Thurmond has averaged 21.3 rebounds this season and 18.7 points.

The Warriors go into this best four-of-seven series with a 5-4 season record against the Hawks. The second game will be played in the Cow Palace here Saturday night. Then the teams play in St. Louis next week on Wednesday and Saturday. Additional games, as needed, will be in San Francisco on April 10, St. Louis April 12 and San Francisco April 14.

The division champion then goes into the league championship series, also four-of-seven, against the Eastern Division winner, Philadelphia or Boston. The series opens Friday at Philadelphia.

U.S. Goalie Named Best In Tourney

VIENNA (AP) — The United States finished fifth in the World Ice Hockey Championships, won by Russia for the fifth straight time, but the American goalie, Carl Wetzel of Detroit, was named today as the best netminder of the tournament.

The 27-year-old Wetzel was the only goalie to score two shutouts. He isn't eligible to compete on the U.S. team in the Winter Olympic Games next year, however, because he has had some professional experience.

The unbeaten Russians completed a sweep of their games by beating Czechoslovakia 4-2 Wednesday for their seventh straight. The Soviets placed four men on the All-Star team picked by sports writers.

Boston Star Connects Twice

Yat Solves Lefthanders; Clendenon Smacks Pair

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Carl Yastrzemski often had that left out feeling when lefthanders pitched against the Red Sox, but his spring he is showing signs of becoming the big hit of the Boston Baseball Party.

The left-handed hitter smacked two home runs off southpaw Alvin Jackson Wednesday as the Red Sox nipped St. Louis 10-9.

His first homer came with a man on in the third inning, and his second came with two aboard in the fifth. He also drove in a run with a bases-loaded walk and made the game-ending out by spearing Jim Williams' fly to deep left field.

Earlier this spring, first-year Manager Dick Williams said Yastrzemski, who hit .278 but only .198 against southpaws in 1966, definitely would not be platooned this season.

In other exhibition games Wednesday, Joe Morgan's home run lifted Houston over Atlanta 3-2; Donn Clendenon smacked two homers as Pittsburgh beat the Chicago White Sox 6-4 in 10; Harmon Killebrew's fifth homer of the spring helped Minnesota past Washington 5-0.

The New York Mets beat Cincinnati 5-3; Cleveland nipped California 2-1; Detroit rocked Philadelphia 6-2; Los Angeles edged Kansas City 3-2 and San Francisco and the Chicago Cubs were rained out.

Joe Foy's three-run double in Boston's five-run sixth provided the winning runs. Mike Shannon drove in four runs with two homers and a pair of singles and Orlando Cepeda homered for St. Louis.

In the Houston game, Larry Dierker retired 13 straight while working seven innings for the Astros, while Tony Cloninger set down 12 straight in a seven-inning stint for Atlanta.

Pittsburgh got three runs from Clendenon's homers but needed three straight singles for a run in the 10th to win it. The Pirates added another extra inning run with a sacrifice fly. Chicago's Ken Berry hit a grand slam off Bob Veale in the third.

Dave Boswell, Jim Perry and Al Worthington of the Twins combined to shut out Washington.

The Mets got seven hits, including Ron Swoboda's triple, in scoring all of their runs in the fifth inning. The outburst was at the expense of Cincinnati's Mel Queen, an outfielder trying to made the grade as a pitcher.

Cleveland got two unearned runs in the fifth to overcome California's 1-0 lead fashioned on Rick Reichardt's second-inning homer, and pitchers Gary Bell, Vicente Romo and Dick Radatz made them stand up.

Doubles by George Korince and Dick McAuliffe and three singles enabled Detroit to break a 1-1 tie with three runs in the eighth against Philadelphia.

Los Angeles got its three runs in the first inning, two of them on Bob Bailey's homer, in beating Kansas City. The Dodgers, however, lost center fielder Willie Davis for seven to 10 days. Davis sprained his left ankle while attempting to steal second.

Illini Scandal Launches New Careers For Coaches

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—The ill wind of athletic scandal at Illinois, after wrecking careers of two veteran head coaches, Wednesday had launched new careers for two products of the assistant coaching ranks.

"It's like coming home," said Jim Valek and Harv Schmidt, former Illini athletic stars, named Tuesday to succeed, respectively, head football coach Pete Elliott and head basketball coach Harry Combes. Elliott and Combes were pressured into resignation by a Big Ten suspension threat against Illinois.

Valek, 40, former grid assistant at four colleges, and Schmidt, 31, cage aide at New Mexico the past three seasons, were given one-year contracts to help steer the Illini back on the Big Ten's straight and narrow path of recruitment.

"We faced this same kind of thing when Coach Paul Dietzel took over at South Carolina last year," said Valek, who also served under Dietzel four previous seasons at Army.

"Just as our tenders went out, the school was placed on probation for recruiting violations before our arrival. This didn't ruin South Carolina's recruiting. It made kids mad at what had been done to their state university. It firmed up their determination to go to school there."

Mailing date for Big Ten football tenders is Saturday.

Valek, a star Illini end from 1945 to 1948 and also an assistant football coach at Wichita and Illinois, said he hoped Elliott's entire seven-member staff would stay with him.

Valek said he was not concerned over the Big Ten code which forbids red-shirting, limits football tenders to 30 per year and bans financial aid beyond room, board and tuition, prohibiting the $15 per month spending money permitted by the NCAA.

"If it takes $15 a month to have athletes come to Illinois, we don't want them," said Valek.

Schmidt, Illini basketball captain in 1957, also starred in the National Industrial Basketball League for the Denver Truckers and coached high school basketball at Moline, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa, before joining the New Mexico staff.

Schmidt faces a stiffer rebuilding job than Valek. The Illini scandal not only forced the March 19 resignations of Elliott, Combes and assistant basketball coach Howie Braun, but also permanently benched two basketball stars, Rich Jones and Ron Dunlap.

Additionally, a promising reserve, Steve Kuberski, was declared ineligible until the 1968-1969 season.

Like Valek, Schmidt said he would concentrate recruiting within the state of Illinois and added that the replacement of Braun as his assistant would be "an established Illinois high school coach."

Yarborough Claims Pole In '500 Race

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—It was a good day at Atlanta International Raceway for Cale Yarborough but a bad one for Curtis Turner.

Yarborough, driving a 1967 Ford, grabbed the pole position Wednesday for Sunday's $77,000 Atlanta 500, but Turner was lucky to escape without serious injury when his 1967 Chevelle was demolished after it flipped and overturned several times.

Turner was taken to a hospital for observation but was released Wednesday night.

The Charlotte, N.C., driver also lost his AIR records for one lap and four laps to Yarborough, also from Charlotte Yarborough's four-lap average was 148.996 miles per hour and his one-lap speed was 149.461.

Yarborough narrowly escaped Turner's crash. He was behind Turner on a test run when the Chevelle began to spin.

Smokey Yunick, who owned the Chevelle and had teamed with Turner to get the qualifying record at AIR in 1966, was thankful his driver had escaped with his life.

"It was the wildest ride I've ever seen a man take and live," he said. "I don't remember seeing one that bad in recent years."

The car went out of control coming out of the fourth turn, flipped end over end for 150 yards in front of about 2,000 grandstand onlookers, broke through an infield rail and burst into flame. But Turner walked away from the wreckage saying, "I'm okay."

Taking the outside pole position Wednesday was Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., whose 1967 Plymouth toured the track at an average speed of 148.351 m.p.h.d

Three-time winner Fred Lorenzen of Elmhurst, Ill., was third in his 1967 Ford with an average of 148.250, and David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., was fourth at 147.976d in his 1967 Dodge.

The other four positions in Wednesday's qualifying were won by A. J. Foyt, Houston, Tex., fifth in a 1967 Ford at 147.682; Tiny Lund, Cross, S.C., sixth in a 1966 Plymouth at 147.672; Darel Dieringer, Charlotte, seventh in a 1967 Ford at 147.491; and Jim Paschal, High Point, N.C., eighth in a 1967 Plymouth at 147.159.

Daytona 500 champion Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., was among those failing to qualify. He gets another chance today when eight more spots in the 44-car starting field will be decided. Still another eight will be decided Friday in more qualifying runs and the final 20 spots will be picked in a Saturday race.

Beard Must Go, Officials Order Cokes

NEW YORK (AP)—Curtis Cokes has to shave off his beard but he says it won't make him any weaker for his nontitle 10-rounder with Gypsy Joe Harris at the Garden Friday night.

The welterweight champion will be permitted to keep his mustache but the New York Athletic Commission decreed the beard must go.

"I'll start growing it right after the fight," said the dapper, 29-year-old champion from Dallas. "I like a beard. It makes me different and people know me. I like that. It's part of being the champion and I like being the champion."

Cokes, a father of four who has quit the ring twice, was a virtual unknown until he whipped Luis Rodriguez, the former welterweight king, Manuel Gonzalez, and then Franceis Jean Josselin.

The victory over Josselin in his home town of Dallas, Tex., earned the lean 5-foot-9 boxer-puncher the 147½-pound division throne vacated by Emile Griffith when he won the middleweight title.

This will be Cokes' first fight in the Garden.

It will be the Garden debut, also, of Harris, an unbeaten 22-year-old punching dynamo from Philadelphia. A low slung, broad-shouldered 150-pounder with the long arms of a gorilla. Harris has compiled a 16-0 record, including eight knockouts.

Rangers Rip Wings, 10-5

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The hats were flying all around Madison Square Garden and nobody was happier to see them than Emile Francis, the dapper little general manager-coach of the New York Rangers.

The Rangers thumped Detroit 10-5 with their biggest scoring night of the year Wednesday and moved into third place in the National Hockey League as Montreal dropped Toronto 5-3. The Canadiens have 73 points, the Rangers 72 and Toronto 71 in the jockeying for playoff positions.

"We waited a long time for that kind of night," said Francis after three-goal hat tricks by Rod Gilbert and Donnie Marshall led the Ranger rout.

The three goals snapped a home ice scoreless drought that had stretched since New Year's night for Gilbert. The All-Star right wing for the first half of the season when he scored 20 goals, Gilbert had managed just five in the second half until Wednesday night.

Marshall and Vic Hadfield scored on the first two shots the Rangers had and the New York margin was as much as 7-2 until a Red Wing flurry led by Dean Prentice and Norm Ullman cut it to 7-5. Then Marshall's two goals put the Rangers out of danger.

Defenseman J.C. Tremblay scored one goal and assisted on two others in Montreal's key victory over the Maple Leafs.

It left the Canadiens in sole possession of second place with two games left to play. Montreal meets Chicago Saturday and Detroit Sunday. The Rangers, one point behind, play Toronto Saturday and Chicago Sunday. The Maple Leafs play Boston Sunday after hosting New York Saturday.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, Julius Boros, Doug Sanders and Gary Player — those were the names most frequently mentioned today as the $125,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament got under way.

They shaped up as the most formidable of the 144 contenders in the chase for $25,000 top money in the richest tournament of the professional tour thus far this year.

Palmer, who elected to sharpen his game for next week's Masters under competitive conditions while Jack Nicklaus preferred to practice at Augusta, has won two of the 10 circuit tournaments this year. So has Boros.

Sanders, the GGO defending champion, has demonstrated a liking for the par-71 Sedgefield Country Club course measuring about 7,000 yards. He has won twice and lost a playoff here in the last four years.

Player demonstrated that his game was nearing its peak with a 66 in Wednesday's pro-amateur play.

Palmer is $252 away from becoming the first professional to reach the $800,000 plateau in official tournament winnings.

Other tournament winners this year who are on hand are Bob Goalby, Tom Nieporte and Dan Sikes.

Ken Still shot a 65, six under par, to win top money of $500 in Wednesday's pro-amateur. He is one of several players still in the running for two Masters invitations which will be determined on the basis of tournament performance this year.

He finished with four successive birdies for a one stroke margin over Player, Don January and Frank Beard.

Boxing Shows Comeback In Madison Square Ring

NEW YORK (AP) — Is boxing staging a comeback at Madison Square Garden?

It begins to look that way.

The Cassius Clay-Zora Folley heavyweight championship fight drew 13,780 spectators who paid a record $244,471 a week ago today.

On Friday Curtis Cokes, the world welterweight champion, and Gypsy Joe Harris meet in a nontitle fight and although the top price is only $8 the gate should exceed $20,000.

And now comes a 15-round, world middleweight championship between Emile Griffith and Nino Benvenuti of Italy April 17 and Managing Director Harry Markson is looking for better than $100,000 with a $20 top.

Said Benvenuti, the challenger, through a translater: "I'd like to make up for that defeat by Ki-Kim Soo in Korea last year. I feel I won that fight."

It was his only professional defeat and the world junior middleweight crown was at stake.

Said Griffith, the champion, in his Virgin Island accent: "I'm mad at Nino. He sent a message to me through a friend. You don't kid when my title is at stake."

Griffith has never seen the Italian fight.

Griffith will receive a guarantee of $80,000 or 45 per cent of the live gate and ancillaries. Benvuenti gets 15 per cent of the live gate and ancillaries.

The fight will be televised nationally in color on home screens by Madison Square Garden RKO General Sports Presentations, with New York and the immediate area blacked out.

Griffith has a record of 52 victories and seven losses, with 18 knockouts. He will be defending the middleweight championship for the third time. In both previous efforts he outpointed Joey Archer of the Bronx, N.Y.

This will be Benvenuti's first fight in the United States. He has won 69 out of 70 professional fights with 29 knockouts.

Pennsylvania's Business Seen Hurt By Canal

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The proposed Lake Erie—Ohio River canal is potentially harmful to Pennsylvania's business interests and workers, says the chairman of the state Public Utility Commission in calling for further studies to determine its economic justification.

The canal "would confer economic benefit only on the heavy industries in the Youngstown (Ohio) area," George I. Bloom said Wednesday at a meeting of the Community Relations Committee of the Pittsburgh Railroads, an arm of the Eastern Railroad Presidents Conference.

"I am not opposed to industrial progress in a sister state, but certainly not at the expense of Pennsylvania," Bloom said.

Car, Truck Damaged By Crash In West End

An auto and a truck were damaged in a collision Wednesday at 4:49 p. m. on a Freeway ramp at the junction with W. 8th St., police reported.

The mishap involved a 1961 two-door sedan driven by Norma L. Blakeley, 27, of 612 15th St., Wellsville, and a 1964 model truck operated by George K. Tompkins, 33, of 2012 Michigan Ave.

Both vehicles halted at the junction of W. 8th St., police said. The auto, first in line, was halted or moving slowly again when struck, officers said. The mishap damaged the rear of the auto and the front of the truck, which is owned by Ace Delivery Service of 1925 Park Ave.

Yat Solves Lefthanders; Clendenon Smacks Pair

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Carl Yastrzemski often had that left out feeling when lefthanders pitched against the Red Sox, but his spring he is showing signs of becoming the big hit of the Boston Baseball Party.

The left-handed hitter smacked two home runs off southpaw Alvin Jackson Wednesday as the Red Sox nipped St. Louis 10-9.

His first homer came with a man on in the third inning, and his second came with two aboard in the fifth. He also drove in a run with a bases-loaded walk and made the game-ending out by spearing Jim Williams' fly to deep left field.

Earlier this spring, first-year Manager Dick Williams said Yastrzemski, who hit .278 but only .198 against southpaws in 1966, definitely would not be platooned this season.

In other exhibition games Wednesday, Joe Morgan's home run lifted Houston over Atlanta 3-2; Donn Clendenon smacked two homers as Pittsburgh beat the Chicago White Sox 6-4 in 10; Harmon Killebrew's fifth homer of the spring helped Minnesota past Washington 5-0.

The New York Mets beat Cincinnati 5-3; Cleveland nipped California 2-1; Detroit rocked Philadelphia 6-2; Los Angeles edged Kansas City 3-2 and San Francisco and the Chicago Cubs were rained out.

Joe Foy's three-run double in Boston's five-run sixth provided the winning runs. Mike Shannon drove in four runs with two homers and a pair of singles and Orlando Cepeda homered for St. Louis.

In the Houston game, Larry Dierker retired 13 straight while working seven innings for the Astros, while Tony Cloninger set down 12 straight in a seven-inning stint for Atlanta.

Pittsburgh got three runs from Clendenon's homers but needed three straight singles for a run in the 10th to win it. The Pirates added another extra inning run with a sacrifice fly. Chicago's Ken Berry hit a grand slam off Bob Veale in the third.

Dave Boswell, Jim Perry and Al Worthington of the Twins combined to shut out Washington.

The Mets got seven hits, including Ron Swoboda's triple, in scoring all of their runs in the fifth inning. The outburst was at the expense of Cincinnati's Mel Queen, an outfielder trying to made the grade as a pitcher.

Cleveland got two unearned runs in the fifth to overcome California's 1-0 lead fashioned on Rick Reichardt's second-inning homer, and pitchers Gary Bell, Vicente Romo and Dick Radatz made them stand up.

Doubles by George Korince and Dick McAuliffe and three singles enabled Detroit to break a 1-1 tie with three runs in the eighth against Philadelphia.

Los Angeles got its three runs in the first inning, two of them on Bob Bailey's homer, in beating Kansas City. The Dodgers, however, lost center fielder Willie Davis for seven to 10 days. Davis sprained his left ankle while attempting to steal second.

Illini Scandal Launches New Careers For Coaches

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—The ill wind of athletic scandal at Illinois, after wrecking careers of two veteran head coaches, Wednesday had launched new careers for two products of the assistant coaching ranks.

"It's like coming home," said Jim Valek and Harv Schmidt, former Illini athletic stars, named Tuesday to succeed, respectively, head football coach Pete Elliott and head basketball coach Harry Combes. Elliott and Combes were pressured into resignation by a Big Ten suspension threat against Illinois.

Valek, 40, former grid assistant at four colleges, and Schmidt, 31, cage aide at New Mexico the past three seasons, were given one-year contracts to help steer the Illini back on the Big Ten's straight and narrow path of recruitment.

"We faced this same kind of thing when Coach Paul Dietzel took over at South Carolina last year," said Valek, who also served under Dietzel four previous seasons at Army.

"Just as our tenders went out, the school was placed on probation for recruiting violations before our arrival. This didn't ruin South Carolina's recruiting. It made kids mad at what had been done to their state university. It firmed up their determination to go to school there."

Mailing date for Big Ten football tenders is Saturday.

Valek, a star Illini end from 1945 to 1948 and also an assistant football coach at Wichita and Illinois, said he hoped Elliott's entire seven-member staff would stay with him.

Valek said he was not concerned over the Big Ten code which forbids red-shirting, limits football tenders to 30 per year and bans financial aid beyond room, board and tuition, prohibiting the $15 per month spending money permitted by the NCAA.

"If it takes $15 a month to have athletes come to Illinois, we don't want them," said Valek.

Schmidt, Illini basketball captain in 1957, also starred in the National Industrial Basketball League for the Denver Truckers and coached high school basketball at Moline, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa, before joining the New Mexico staff.

Schmidt faces a stiffer rebuilding job than Valek. The Illini scandal not only forced the March 19 resignations of Elliott, Combes and assistant basketball coach Howie Braun, but also permanently benched two basketball stars, Rich Jones and Ron Dunlap.

Additionally, a promising reserve, Steve Kuberski, was declared ineligible until the 1968-1969 season.

Like Valek, Schmidt said he would concentrate recruiting within the state of Illinois and added that the replacement of Braun as his assistant would be "an established Illinois high school coach."

Yarborough Claims Pole In '500 Race

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—It was a good day at Atlanta International Raceway for Cale Yarborough but a bad one for Curtis Turner.

Yarborough, driving a 1967 Ford, grabbed the pole position Wednesday for Sunday's $77,000 Atlanta 500, but Turner was lucky to escape without serious injury when his 1967 Chevelle was demolished after it flipped and overturned several times.

Turner was taken to a hospital for observation but was released Wednesday night.

The Charlotte, N.C., driver also lost his AIR records for one lap and four laps to Yarborough, also from Charlotte. Yarborough's four-lap average was 148.996 miles per hour and his one-lap speed was 149.461.

Yarborough narrowly escaped Turner's crash. He was behind Turner on a test run when the Chevelle began to spin.

Smokey Yunick, who owned the Chevelle and had teamed with Turner to get the qualifying record at AIR in 1966, was thankful his driver had escaped with his life.

"It was the wildest ride I've ever seen a man take and live," he said. "I don't remember seeing one that bad in recent years."

The car went out of control coming out of the fourth turn, flipped end over end for 150 yards in front of about 2,000 grandstand onlookers, broke through an infield rail and burst into flame. But Turner walked away from the wreckage saying, "I'm okay."

Taking the outside pole position Wednesday was Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., whose 1967 Plymouth toured the track at an average speed of 148.351 m.p.h.d.

Three-time winner Fred Lorenzen of Elmhurst, Ill., was third in his 1967 Ford with an average of 148.250, and David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., was fourth at 147.976d in his 1967 Dodge.

The other four positions in Wednesday's qualifying were won by A. J. Foyt, Houston, Tex., fifth in a 1967 Ford at 147.682; Tiny Lund, Cross, S.C., sixth in a 1966 Plymouth at 147.672; Darel Dieringer, Charlotte, seventh in a 1967 Ford at 147.491; and Jim Paschal, High Point, N.C., eighth in a 1967 Plymouth at 147.159.

Daytona 500 champion Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., was among those failing to qualify. He gets another chance today when eight more spots in the 44-car starting field will be decided. Still another eight will be decided Friday in more qualifying runs and the final 20 spots will be picked in a Saturday race.

Beard Must Go, Officials Order Cokes

NEW YORK (AP)—Curtis Cokes has to shave off his beard but he says it won't make him any weaker for his nontitle 10-rounder with Gypsy Joe Harris at the Garden Friday night.

The welterweight champion will be permitted to keep his mustache but the New York Athletic Commission decreed the beard must go.

"I'll start growing it right after the fight," said the dapper, 29-year-old champion from Dallas. "I like a beard. It makes me different and people know me. I like that. It's part of being the champion and I like being the champion."

Cokes, a father of four who has quit the ring twice, was a virtual unknown until he whipped Luis Rodriguez, the former welterweight king, Manuel Gonzalez, and then Franceis Jean Josselin.

The victory over Josselin in his home town of Dallas, Tex., earned the lean 5-foot-9 boxer-puncher the 147½-pound division throne vacated by Emile Griffith when he won the middleweight title.

This will be Cokes' first fight in the Garden.

It will be the Garden debut, also, of Harris, an unbeaten 22-year-old punching dynamo from Philadelphia. A low slung, broad-shouldered 150-pounder with the long arms of a gorilla, Harris has compiled a 16-0 record, including eight knockouts.

Rangers Rip Wings, 10-5

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The hats were flying all around Madison Square Garden and nobody was happier to see them than Emile Francis, the dapper little general manager-coach of the New York Rangers.

The Rangers thumped Detroit 10-5 with their biggest scoring night of the year Wednesday and moved into third place in the National Hockey League as Montreal dropped Toronto 5-3. The Canadiens have 73 points, the Rangers 72 and Toronto 71 in the jockeying for playoff positions.

"We waited a long time for that kind of night," said Francis after three-goal hat tricks by Rod Gilbert and Donnie Marshall led the Ranger rout.

The three goals snapped a home ice scoreless drought that had stretched since New Year's night for Gilbert. The All-Star right wing for the first half of the season when he scored 20 goals, Gilbert had managed just five in the second half until Wednesday night.

Marshall and Vic Hadfield scored on the first two shots the Rangers had and the New York margin was as much as 7-2 until a Red Wing flurry led by Dean Prentice and Norm Ullman cut it to 7-5. Then Marshall's two goals put the Rangers out of danger.

Defenseman J.C. Tremblay scored one goal and assisted on two others in Montreal's key victory over the Maple Leafs.

It left the Canadiens in sole possession of second place with two games left to play. Montreal meets Chicago Saturday and Detroit Sunday. The Rangers, one point behind, play Toronto Saturday and Chicago Sunday. The Maple Leafs play Boston Sunday after hosting New York Saturday.

Pennsylvania's Business Seen Hurt By Canal

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The proposed Lake Erie—Ohio River canal is potentially harmful to Pennsylvania's business interests and workers, says the chairman of the state Public Utility Commission in calling for further studies to determine its economic justification.

The canal "would confer economic benefit only on the heavy industries in the Youngstown (Ohio) area," George I. Bloom said Wednesday at a meeting of the Community Relations Committee of the Pittsburgh Railroads, an arm of the Eastern Railroad Presidents Conference.

"I am not opposed to industrial progress in a sister state, but certainly not at the expense of Pennsylvania," Bloom said.

Pros Launch Greensboro Event Today

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, Julius Boros, Doug Sanders and Gary Player — those were the names most frequently mentioned today as the $125,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament got under way.

They shaped up as the most formidable of the 144 contenders in the chase for $25,000 top money in the richest tournament of the professional tour thus far this year.

Palmer, who elected to sharpen his game for next week's Masters under competitive conditions while Jack Nicklaus preferred to practice at Augusta, has won two of the 10 circuit tournaments this year. So has Boros.

Sanders, the GGO defending champion, has demonstrated a liking for the par-71 Sedgefield Country Club course measuring about 7,000 yards. He has won twice and lost a playoff here in the last four years.

Player demonstrated that his game was nearing its peak with a 66 in Wednesday's pro-amateur play.

Palmer is $252 away from becoming the first professional to reach the $800,000 plateau in official tournament winnings.

Other tournament winners this year who are on hand are Bob Goalby, Tom Nieporte and Dan Sikes.

Ken Still shot a 65, six under par, to win top money of $500 in Wednesday's pro-amateur. He is one of several players still in the running for two Masters invitations which will be determined on the basis of tournament performance this year.

He finished with four successive birdies for a one stroke margin over Player, Don January and Frank Beard.

An auto and a truck were damaged in a collision Wednesday at 4:49 p. m. on a Freeway ramp at the junction with W. 8th St., police reported.

The mishap involved a 1961 two-door sedan driven by Norma L. Blakeley, 27, of 612 15th St., Wellsville, and a 1964 model truck operated by George K. Tompkins, 33, of 2012 Michigan Ave.

Both vehicles halted at the junction of W. 8th St., police said. The auto, first in line, was halted or moving slowly again when struck, officers said. The mishap damaged the rear of the auto and the front of the truck, which is owned by Ace Delivery Service of 1925 Park Ave.

Boxing Shows Comeback In Madison Square Ring

NEW YORK (AP) — Is boxing staging a comeback at Madison Square Garden?

It begins to look that way.

The Cassius Clay-Zora Folley heavyweight championship fight drew 13,780 spectators who paid a record $244,471 a week ago today.

On Friday Curtis Cokes, the world welterweight champion, and Gypsy Joe Harris meet in a nontitle fight and although the top price is only $8 the gate should exceed $20,000.

And now comes a 15-round, world middleweight championship between Emile Griffith and Nino Benvenuti of Italy April 17 and Managing Director Harry Markson is looking for better than $100,000 with a $20 top.

Said Benvenuti, the challenger, through a translater: "I'd like to make up for that defeat by Ki-Kim Soo in Korea last year. I feel I won that fight."

It was his only professional defeat and the world junior middleweight crown was at stake.

Said Griffith, the champion, in his Virgin Island accent: "I'm mad at Nino. He sent a message to me through a friend. You don't kid when my title is at stake."

Griffith has never seen the Italian fight.

Griffith will receive a guarantee of $80,000 or 45 per cent of the live gate and ancillaries. Benvuenti gets 15 per cent of the live gate and ancillaries.

The fight will be televised nationally in color on home screens by Madison Square Garden RKO General Sports Presentations, with New York and the immediate area blacked out.

Griffith has a record of 52 victories and seven losses, with 18 knockouts. He will be defending the middleweight championship for the third time. In both previous efforts he outpointed Joey Archer of the Bronx, N.Y.

This will be Benvenuti's first fight in the United States. He has won 69 out of 70 professional fights with 29 knockouts.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN HORN

Thoughts By Claire Bloom

The lovely actress who was luminous in the film "Limelight," marvelous in the Broadway play "Rashomon" and glorious in such television productions as the British Broadcasting Corp.' "Anna Karenina and a "Camera 3" reading of a personal selection of poetry was having dessert.

Not a smidgen of the normal effects of affection for vanilla ice cream showed on Claire Bloom's trim figure or bony, thin face.

She had been reading properties, she admitted.

-:-

"MOST SCRIPTS one reads for plays these days are ludicrous," she said. "They're about things that are not important. You devote so much time to a play, you'd just be wasting time.

"I don't feel as strongly about a movie. I'd do one that is amusing, but a play is different.

"A TV play is judged by different standards. I've done a 'Theater' that won't go down in the annals of history, but I did it with a good actor — Maximilian Schell.

"The director means more than anyone. I would do a film that is questionable if the director is good."

-:-

AFTER A LONG absence from the public eye — she just hadn't found a part that had something to say or was not dull—there is to be a flurry of Claire Bloom activity on TV in the next two months.

The week of April 10 she begins rehearsal with husband Rod Steiger for an educational Channel 13 "Sunday Showcase" production of "Letters of Heloise and Abelard," the 12th-century lovers. The program will be telecast April 23.

On April 26, she appears as Queen Anne in the "Hall of Fame" production of "Soldier in Love," a historical drama about Sr Winston Churchill's illustrious predecessor, the Duke of Marlborough.

And May 30, CBS will telecast the English production of Chekhov's "Ivanov," which Miss Bloom taped a year ago last January.

-:-

"I LOVED television when it was live," she said. "The gamble was just marvelous." She then appeared more on television, too, when the drama series were many.

Surprisingly knowledgeable about Anglo - American poetry, she admired E. E. Cummings, Ezra Pound, Theodore Roethke, Marianne Moore, Gerald Manley Hopkins and Robert Browning, but thought John Keats was the greatest poet who ever lived.

Now a resident of Brooklyn Claire Bloom enjoys visiting art museums — she found a recent Paul Klee exhibit a particularly happy experience — and antique shops. She explains the latter enthusiasm with, "Mother has an antique shop in London."

Dancing, which she has been doing since the age of 2, still absorbs her. It explained her slim figure. Although she doesn't want to dance professionally, she still takes ballet lessons.

She laughed. "My husband says I'll make my dancing debut at 96."

-:-

TO HELP Americans of all ages better understand the function and value of the rule of law in a democratic society, the law observance committee of the American Bar Association has been conducting a spot campaign in cooperation with TV-radio stations around the country.

After the introduction — "The bar association reminds us that freedom depends on the rule of law. The law protects you. Respect it. Uphold it. Obey it. And here to help promote respect for the law and for those who enforce it"—a prominent local personality speaks on the video and audio tape of the 50-second promotions.

Reporting on activities through last month, committee cochairman Harry D. Shargel says the spots have been carried by 200 NBC radio network stations, 200 ABC radio network stations, NBC-TV owned stations, the radio-TV stations of the Storer Broadcasting Co. and the Armed Forces Radio and TV Network and various independent stations.

-:-

AMONG individuals who have participated are Air Force Secretary Harold Brown, Postmaster Gen. Lawrence F. O'Brien, Supreme Court Justices Potter Stewart and Tom Clark, Secretarh of State Dean Rusk, Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Gov. Richard Hughes of New Jersey.

Reaction to the series has been favorable, Shargel reports.

Pennsylvania Plan Designed For Share Of Federal Funds

HARRISBURG (AP) — Two House Republicans introduced Wednesday a Shafer - supported resolution designed to bring a share of federal tax revenues to the state.

While the General Assembly was in recess, until April 3, Majority Leader Lee A. Donaldson Jr. of Allegheny County and Rep. Alvin C. Bush of Lycoming, presented the proposal to Chief Clerk of the House Adam T. Bower.

House Speaker Kenneth B. Lee, R - Sullivan, meanwhile, mailed copies of the resolution to all members of the House. He notified them that any of them may join as co - sponsors when the legislature reconvenes next week.

Gov. Shafer had announced earlier that the proposal would be offered and that copies of it would be sent to the governors of the other 49 states, asking them to back similar resolutions in their legislatures.

The resolution would petition Congress to call a convention to write an amendment to the U. S. Constitution to make it mandatory for a portion of federal tax revenue to be turned over to the state governments.

Two-thirds of the states (34 in all) would have to approve the proposal before a convention could be called.

The resolution does not detail exactly how a tax-sharing plan should be established, deliberately leaving that to the proposed convention to decide.

However, Shafer repeatedly has argued that the federal government receives an unfair portion of tax revenues which the states urgently need to finance domestic programs, such as education, welfare and highway building.

In 1902, before their first successful power-driven flight, the Wright brothers made nearly 1,000 glider flights, some covering distances of more than 600 feet.

U.S. High Court Review Asked In Integration Case

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court will be asked to review an 8-4 ruling by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals which said a pupil "has no inalienable right to choose his school."

It affirmed a far-reaching decision calling for total integration of public schools in six Southern states.

It also put a new interpretation on the freedom-of-choice theme of integration which has been in effect since the 1954 Supreme Court ruling banning "separate but equal" schools.

"The freedom of the Negro child to attend any public school is again lost to him after a short life of less than 13 years," said a dissent by U.S. Circuit Judge J. P. Coleman of Ackerman, Miss.

"We are not freeing these children of racial chains. We are compounding and prolonging the difficulty," he said.

The opinion was issued late Wednesday and endorsed a decision made three months ago by a three-judge panel of the court.

Various Awards Presented Cubs

Awards were presented during the meeting of Cub Pack 5[illegible] of the Yellow Creek Presbyterian Church Tuesday night at the church.

Recipients were Edward Osgood, wolf badge; Mark Kennedy, bobcat pin; Richard Adney, silver arrow and a rugged road patch for bringing in the most number of boys.

Den 2 won the attendance award and Richard Payne, cubmaster, received a slide. The presentations were made by Richard Adney, assistant cubmaster.

Dale Hoyt, assistant district commissioner, was in charge of the uniform inspection.

Boys from Den 1 and 2 had their projects on display and Den 2 closed the meeting with a song skit. Refreshments were served by mothers of dens 1 and 2.

A banquet is being planned for April 11.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Polluted rivers and streams have become a major problem for the United States, and one that will eventually cost the country billions of dollars to solve. Almost one - fourth of the nation's municipalities empty untreated wastes into the nearest stream. In addition, another 31 per cent give only primary treatment to wastes before disposing of them.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN HORN

Thoughts By Claire Bloom

The lovely actress who was luminous in the film "Limelight," marvelous in the Broadway play "Rashomon" and glorious in such television productions as the British Broadcasting Corp.' "Anna Karenina and a "Camera 3" reading of a personal selection of poetry was having dessert.

Not a smidgen of the normal effects of affection for vanilla ice cream showed on Claire Bloom's trim figure or bony, thin face.

She had been reading properties, she admitted.

-:-

"MOST SCRIPTS one reads for plays these days are ludicrous," she said. "They're about things that are not important. You devote so much time to a play, you'd just be wasting time.

"I don't feel as strongly about a movie. I'd do one that is amusing, but a play is different.

"A TV play is judged by different standards. I've done a 'Theater' that won't go down in the annals of history, but I did it with a good actor — Maximilian Schell.

"The director means more than anyone. I would do a film that is questionable if the director is good."

-:-

AFTER A LONG absence from the public eye — she just hadn't found a part that had something to say or was not dull—there is to be a flurry of Claire Bloom activity on TV in the next two months.

The week of April 10 she begins rehearsal with husband Rod Steiger for an educational Channel 13 "Sunday Showcase" production of "Letters of Heloise and Abelard," the 12th-century lovers. The program will be telecast April 23.

On April 26, she appears as Queen Anne in the "Hall of Fame" production of "Soldier in Love," a historical drama about Sr Winston Churchill's illustrious predecessor, the Duke of Marlborough.

And May 30, CBS will telecast the English production of Chekhov's "Ivanov," which Miss Bloom taped a year ago last January.

-:-

"I LOVED television when it was live," she said. "The gamble was just marvelous." She then appeared more on television, too, when the drama series were many.

Surprisingly knowledgeable about Anglo - American poetry, she admired E. E. Cummings, Ezra Pound, Theodore Roethke, Marianne Moore, Gerald Manley Hopkins and Robert Browning, but thought John Keats was the greatest poet who ever lived.

Now a resident of Brooklyn Claire Bloom enjoys visiting art museums — she found a recent Paul Klee exhibit a particularly happy experience — and antique shops. She explains the latter enthusiasm with, "Mother has an antique shop in London."

Dancing, which she has been doing since the age of 2, still absorbs her. It explained her slim figure. Although she doesn't want to dance professionally, she still takes ballet lessons.

She laughed. "My husband says I'll make my dancing debut at 96."

-:-

TO HELP Americans of all ages better understand the function and value of the rule of law in a democratic society, the law observance committee of the American Bar Association has been conducting a spot campaign in cooperation with TV-radio stations around the country.

After the introduction — "The bar association reminds us that freedom depends on the rule of law. The law protects you. Respect it. Uphold it. Obey it. And here to help promote respect for the law and for those who enforce it"—a prominent local personality speaks on the video and audio tape of the 50-second promotions.

Reporting on activities through last month, committee cochairman Harry D. Shargel says the spots have been carried by 200 NBC radio network stations, 200 ABC radio network stations, NBC-TV owned stations, the radio-TV stations of the Storer Broadcasting Co. and the Armed Forces Radio and TV Network and various independent stations.

-:-

AMONG individuals who have participated are Air Force Secretary Harold Brown, Postmaster Gen. Lawrence F. O'Brien, Supreme Court Justices Potter Stewart and Tom Clark, Secretarh of State Dean Rusk, Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Gov. Richard Hughes of New Jersey.

Reaction to the series has been favorable, Shargel reports.

U.S. High Court Review Asked In Integration Case

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court will be asked to review an 8-4 ruling by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals which said a pupil "has no inalienable right to choose his school."

It affirmed a far-reaching decision calling for total integration of public schools in six Southern states.

It also put a new interpretation on the freedom-of-choice theme of integration which has been in effect since the 1954 Supreme Court ruling banning "separate but equal" schools.

"The freedom of the Negro child to attend any public school is again lost to him after a short life of less than 13 years," said a dissent by U.S. Circuit Judge J. P. Coleman of Ackerman, Miss.

"We are not freeing these children of racial chains. We are compounding and prolonging the difficulty," he said.

The opinion was issued late Wednesday and endorsed a decision made three months ago by a three-judge panel of the court.

Various Awards Presented Cubs

Awards were presented during the meeting of Cub Pack 5[illegible] of the Yellow Creek Presbyterian Church Tuesday night at the church.

Recipients were Edward Osgood, wolf badge; Mark Kennedy, bobcat pin; Richard Adney, silver arrow and a rugged road patch for bringing in the most number of boys.

Den 2 won the attendance award and Richard Payne, cubmaster, received a slide. The presentations were made by Richard Adney, assistant cubmaster.

Dale Hoyt, assistant district commissioner, was in charge of the uniform inspection.

Boys from Den 1 and 2 had their projects on display and Den 2 closed the meeting with a song skit. Refreshments were served by mothers of dens 1 and 2.

A banquet is being planned for April 11.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Polluted rivers and streams have become a major problem for the United States, and one that will eventually cost the country billions of dollars to solve. Almost one - fourth of the nation's municipalities empty untreated wastes into the nearest stream. In addition, another 31 per cent give only primary treatment to wastes before disposing of them.

Pennsylvania Plan Designed For Share Of Federal Funds

HARRISBURG (AP) — Two House Republicans introduced Wednesday a Shafer - supported resolution designed to bring a share of federal tax revenues to the state.

While the General Assembly was in recess, until April 3, Majority Leader Lee A. Donaldson Jr. of Allegheny County and Rep. Alvin C. Bush of Lycoming, presented the proposal to Chief Clerk of the House Adam T. Bower.

House Speaker Kenneth B. Lee, R - Sullivan, meanwhile, mailed copies of the resolution to all members of the House. He notified them that any of them may join as co - sponsors when the legislature reconvenes next week.

Gov. Shafer had announced earlier that the proposal would be offered and that copies of it would be sent to the governors of the other 49 states, asking them to back similar resolutions in their legislatures.

The resolution would petition Congress to call a convention to write an amendment to the U. S. Constitution to make it mandatory for a portion of federal tax revenue to be turned over to the state governments.

Two-thirds of the states (34 in all) would have to approve the proposal before a convention could be called.

The resolution does not detail exactly how a tax-sharing plan should be established, deliberately leaving that to the proposed convention to decide.

However, Shafer repeatedly has argued that the federal government receives an unfair portion of tax revenues which the states urgently need to finance domestic programs, such as education, welfare and highway building.

In 1902, before their first successful power-driven flight, the Wright brothers made nearly 1,000 glider flights, some covering distances of more than 600 feet.

Fate Of Bond Plan Holds Key

Long Session Looming For Ohio's Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It's beginning to look like a long, hot summer in the Ohio Legislature and some lawmakers think autumn leaves will be falling before the end comes to the unpredictable session.

They say it all depends on the fate of Gov. James A. Rhodes' proposal for an Ohio Bond Commission which, barring legal complications, will go before voters in a statewide primary May 2.

This was the speculation of some observers today as the House and Senate called up a handful of routine bills to end their 12th work week. It was a busy week that included introduction of several major bills, some of which will require weeks of extensive hearings before they reach the floor of either chamber.

In Wednesday's developments:

—The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill aimed at curbing summer racial riots by making manufacture or use of fire bombs punishable by one to five years in prison. The vote was 82-10.

—The House voted 71-22 to outlaw the use of tires with metal spkes and studs on Ohio highways from May 1 to Nov. 1.

—The Senate voted unanimously to permit making duplicate copies of printed returns from certain types of voting machines and to extend from two years to four the terms of treasurer in non-charter cities with less than 100,000 population.

—The governor sent to both Houses his master plan for vocational education in Ohio—his second legislative message of the week. Both carried promises of capital improvements keyed to passage of the Bond Commission resolution.

Although the legislature completed its approval of the bond commission several weeks ago, it now is apparent the lawmakers won't get much done until after the voters have spoken. The governor has strongly indicated he expects GOP members of the legislature to do their share of campaining for the proposal. This will take time.

In addition, if the voters approve, there must be implementing legislation for the five-member commission which would be given the authority, within certain limits, to float bonds for capital improvements without voter approval.

It is generally agreed that the present legislature will have the job of implementation. Otherwise, the administration says, the state will have no funds for capital improvements during the next two years.

The governor's message Wednesday on vocational education outlined a system of vocational education centers through the state. It would cost $80 million in state funds which could be made available "through the certification and bond issuing procedures of the Ohio Bond Commission. . . ", Rhodes said.

His message earlier in the week reviewed the State Board of Regents' master plan for higher education and it, too, was keyed to the bond commission to the tune of $335 million. Rhodes called on the legislature to "endorse" both plans.

Other Indications of a long session includes introduction only this week of major bills to permit private insurance companies to sell workmen's compensation insurance, to increase unemployment compensation benefits, and to split into separate agencies the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction. In addition, there still is no administration school foundation bill, and hearings are yet to begin on the governor's proposed $2 billion 1967-69 operating budget. "Any way you look at it, we've hardly begun,' said one disgruntled lawmaker.

Twenty-two new bills were introduced in the two Houses Wednesday. They included a proposal to ban use of automatic bird-scaring devices from one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise, to change the name of the Ohio Higher Education Assistance Commission to the Ohio Student Loan Commission and also make it eligible to participate in federal loan programs, and increase the salaries of sheriffs to minimums of $7,560 to $22,120 a year, based on county populations. Present minimums are $5,400 to $15,800.

Nearly one-third of the U.S. working force is made up of women, and more than half of these employed women are married.

Fate Of Bond Plan Holds Key

Long Session Looming For Ohio's Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It's beginning to look like a long, hot summer in the Ohio Legislature and some lawmakers think autumn leaves will be falling before the end comes to the unpredictable session.

They say it all depends on the fate of Gov. James A. Rhodes' proposal for an Ohio Bond Commission which, barring legal complications, will go before voters in a statewide primary May 2.

This was the speculation of some observers today as the House and Senate called up a handful of routine bills to end their 12th work week. It was a busy week that included introduction of several major bills, some of which will require weeks of extensive hearings before they reach the floor of either chamber.

In Wednesday's developments:

—The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill aimed at curbing summer racial riots by making manufacture or use of fire bombs punishable by one to five years in prison. The vote was 82-10.

—The House voted 71-22 to outlaw the use of tires with metal spkes and studs on Ohio highways from May 1 to Nov. 1.

—The Senate voted unanimously to permit making duplicate copies of printed returns from certain types of voting machines and to extend from two years to four the terms of treasurer in non-charter cities with less than 100,000 population.

—The governor sent to both Houses his master plan for vocational education in Ohio—his second legislative message of the week. Both carried promises of capital improvements keyed to passage of the Bond Commission resolution.

Although the legislature completed its approval of the bond commission several weeks ago, it now is apparent the lawmakers won't get much done until after the voters have spoken. The governor has strongly indicated he expects GOP members of the legislature to do their share of campaining for the proposal. This will take time.

In addition, if the voters approve, there must be implementing legislation for the five-member commission which would be given the authority, within certain limits, to float bonds for capital improvements without voter approval.

It is generally agreed that the present legislature will have the job of implementation. Otherwise, the administration says, the state will have no funds for capital improvements during the next two years.

The governor's message Wednesday on vocational education outlined a system of vocational education centers through the state. It would cost $80 million in state funds which could be made available "through the certification and bond issuing procedures of the Ohio Bond Commission. . . ", Rhodes said.

His message earlier in the week reviewed the State Board of Regents' master plan for higher education and it, too, was keyed to the bond commission to the tune of $335 million. Rhodes called on the legislature to "endorse" both plans.

Other indications of a long session includes introduction only this week of major bills to permit private insurance companies to sell workmen's compensation insurance, to increase unemployment compensation benefits, and to split into separate agencies the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction. In addition, there still is no administration school foundation bill, and hearings are yet to begin on the governor's proposed $2 billion 1967-69 operating budget. "Any way you look at it, we've hardly begun," said one disgruntled lawmaker.

Twenty-two new bills were introduced in the two Houses Wednesday. They included a proposal to ban use of automatic bird-scaring devices from one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise, to change the name of the Ohio Higher Education Assistance Commission to the Ohio Student Loan Commission and also make it eligible to participate in federal loan programs, and increase the salaries of sheriffs to minimums of $7,560 to $22,120 a year, based on county populations. Present minimums are $5,400 to $15,800.

Nearly one-third of the U.S. working force is made up of women, and more than half of these employed women are married.

Junior Editors Quiz on ICEBERGS

QUESTION: Where does cork come from and why does it float?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Glaciers, which are slow-moving rivers of ice, work their way down to sea on the west coast of Greenland (look up this location in an atlas). As they reach the water enormous chunks of ice break off with a mighty, thundering sound (upper left). These spash into the water and float away with only one-seventh of their mass above the surface. Our artist has shown us what they look like as they float down with the Arctic Current, which runs between Greenland and the coast of Labrador. He drew this picture from sketches he himself made while cruising along the Labrador coast in a small sailing vessel. Here are three bergs, looking dazzling white against the immense black cliffs of Labrador. Hollows in the ice may appear brilliantly blue or green. Thousands of sea birds often settle on them. The pounding of the surf has worn the berg in front into the fantastic mushroom shape. The icebergs finally float out to sea and are melted by the warmer water of the Atlantic Ocean.
